Warm Winter For Sgt. Spring

By JAMES A. BOURDIER Philadelphia, is one of the streets in an area known as Ciudad Nueva but more commonly referred to as the old "rebel area."

Headquarters and billets are almost squarely in the center of this area — on Avenue Mella — one of the hot spots of sniper fire during last year's short revolution.

Each of Spring's two jeeps carries three men each and an M60 machine gun, plus shotguns loaded with birdshot, and a bazooka. Each soldier carries his own personal arms. Spring rides the right-hand seat of the lead jeep with a shotgun across his lap, constantly on the alert for any sign of trouble.

The men average 100 miles a day in patrols. A ride through the area takes almost two hours. Then Spring orders a rest break. Then more patrol.

Throwing rocks and garbage has grown less frequent but many Dominicans hurl verbal insults at the olive-clad men in jeeps. "We don't feel the day is complete," Spring jokes, "if we don't collect a few 'Yankee, go home's'."

As Spring's jeeps move through traffic, the men swivel their heads, checking first the street in their immediate area, then up at the two-and three-story buildings, packed close together at the sidewalk's edge. At any sign of trouble or street disturbance it is their duty to make a report and investigate — and when so ordered, take action.

Quietly, the tall, lean veteran of more than 70 parachute jumps recalls being under fire in this island soon after the revolution broke out, when the sniper fire "was hot and heavy."

Spring feels a sympathy toward the Dominican people.

"The average Dominican I know is usually quiet and cooperative, unless he is prodded along by someone. He won't go out of his way to interfere with us. But let some rabble-rouser organize a mob, and this same man, egged on, will join in and throw stones at you," Spring says.

"A lot of Dominicans, too, would like to be friendly with American troops, but are afraid because of threats from certain elements of the population."

Days off are few for Spring and his men. Their chief source of relaxation is swimming at Red Beach and stretching out under the Caribbean sun.

Spring takes his orders from Lt. William Jones of Littlefield, Tex., his platoon commander. Jones terms his squad leader "a good professional soldier."

Spring looks forward to July when his tour of duty will end and he'll return to his wife, Violet, and son, Wayne, at the 82nd's home base — Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Maybe next winter he'll see snow again.

Schedule Rites For Cass Woman Killed In Crash

BEARDSTOWN — Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Hess, 77, who was killed in a car-truck collision here Friday morning, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at St. John's Lutheran church. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the Northcutt Funeral Home from 7-9 p.m. tonight.

Mrs. Hess, the widow of a prominent Beardstown business man, was fatally injured when the car she was driving collided with a tank truck loaded with 20 tons of liquid fertilizer.

The accident occurred at about 9:30 a.m. Friday at the intersection of U.S. 67 and the Boulevard road at the southern limits of Beardstown. Authorities said the Hess car, traveling south, apparently entered the intersection in the path of the truck, which was westbound. The truck, owned by the L. and H. Trucking company of Springfield, was driven by George H. Crow of Springfield.

Crow was uninjured in the crash. He reportedly told police that, in trying to avoid the oncoming car, his rig skidded on the snow-slickened pavement and struck the Hess car broadside before sliding into a ditch. Heavy wrecker equipment was needed to right the truck which remained at the road side for several hours.

Mrs. Hess was pronounced dead on arrival at Schmitt hospital at 9:50 a.m. The body was taken to the Northcutt Funeral Home. Cass County Coroner Stuart Brownback has scheduled an inquest into the death at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Hess, whose address was 118 Myrtle St., was the widow of Charles Hess who operated the Hess Dairy at Beardstown for many years. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

Surviving is one son, Robert, two brothers, John Moore and Elmer Moore, both of Beardstown; a sister, Mrs. Callie Roberts of Beardstown and three grandchildren: Don Hess of Godfrey, Dick and Mark Hess, both of Beardstown.

CORRECTION

In a story appearing in the Saturday, January 22 Journal it stated that Reverend George Sites, pastor of the Versailles Christian church had retired. The item should have stated that Rev. Sites was rehired.

Club Harmony Hits Sour Note As Pianist Quits

By Virgil Reither

BEARDSTOWN — You gotta admire the spunk of this artist — she just isn't going to use the piano the local Rotarians furnish for their club music session.

Mrs. Mary Alyce Hobrock, widely known and talented local pianist and organist, doesn't mind playing the piano for the club members when they sound off every Monday night in their "sing session" but she thinks there ought to be some harmony—from the piano that is.

Last Monday she pronounced an edict—unless the club furnished a better instrument, at least one in tune—she would have to be counted out as having any part in the musical performances.

Faced with this ultimatum the club acted! Attorney Milton McClure and Bob Rankin, whose expertise on committees has helped to bring in new industry and solve many great problems here, were assigned to act for Rotarians.

They already have acted—a different piano is to be put into use.

Everybody is expecting Mary Alyce to be back on the job in due time.

Roy White Dies Friday At Age Of 75

Roy White of 822 N. Clay, a 75-year-old retired farmer, passed away at 9:30 p.m. Friday at Holy Cross hospital where he had been a patient seven weeks.

He was born at Farmersville April 15, 1890; son of Albert and Lydia Sharpe White. He was married Feb. 7, 1917 to the former Martinette Baker, who survives.

Also surviving are three children: Mrs. Mary Green of Manchester, James A. White of Joliet and Mrs. Eva Mae Estler of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; three grandchildren, a brother, Clarence E. White of Boise, Ida, and two sisters, Mrs. Raymond Browning and Miss Elizabeth White, both of Waggoner.

Two brothers, James and Harvey and two sisters, Susie Gresham and Zetta Eliason, preceded him in death.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral Home where services are scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Monday. Reverend William J. Boston will officiate with burial to be in Manchester cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home from 7:30 to 9 p.m. tonight.

LBJ Enjoys Variety In His Churchgoing

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) - As a churchgoer, President Johnson enjoys variety. He rarely goes to the same church on successive Sundays.

He has dropped in on the Roman Catholics, the Baptists, the Lutherans, the Presbyterians, the Episcopalians and a Billy Graham revival.

The President, brought up as a Baptist, joined the Christian Church in his teens in Texas. His wife, Lady Bird, and daughter, Lynda, 21, are Episcopalians. Daughter Luci, 18, recently was converted to Roman Catholicism.

The President usually gets a special greeting from the pulpit when he arrives for Sunday worship. And why not, asks the President's pastor, the Rev. Dr. George R. Davis of the National City Christian church in Washington. "I think it's not only right but essential that we pinpoint their presence. It serves as a rightful reminder to the rest of the nation."

Johnson frequently makes Sunday excursions to mingle with parishioners at morning hours. He kisses babies, shakes hands, hands out souvenir pens and usually has his picture taken.

The President frequently goes to church with members of his staff and friends and sometimes goes to their churches.

One winter Sunday, Johnson and party sailed across the Potomac to Christ church in Alexandria. They were in time to witness a baptism. When the baby was brought around for him to see, Johnson impulsively took off his gold 1964 campaign tie clasp and fastened it to the baby's dress.

Probably the most spectacular of Johnson's church-hopping occurred during a campaign. The President took his jet on a 500-mile flight to attend Sunday services at the First Presbyterian church of Phoenix, Ariz., home town of his opponent, Barry Goldwater.

Johnson is a contributor to his churches, and he likes to add to the comfort of fellow communicants. The white clapboard Christian church in his home town of Johnson City, Tex., where he was baptized as a boy, got a new air conditioner last July. The gift, estimated at $4,000, came from the Johnson City Foundation, established by the President for charitable purposes. And, 30 miles away, historic old St. Barnabas Episcopal church, got its pew cushions from the Johnsons.

In Washington, Johnson usually alternates between his own church, the National City Christian, and his wife's, St. Mark's Episcopal.

His own sect, sometimes called the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ, is a product of frontier America. It now has 1.8 million members of 8,000 autonomous congregations concentrated in nine states—Indiana, Missouri, Texas, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Oklahoma, California and Nevada.

Johnson's pastor, the Rev. Dr. Davis, takes a personal interest in his presidential member and he's often invited to the White House. He was the first outside visitor at the hospital when Johnson underwent his gall bladder operation last October. He was summoned by the President.

When Johnson took communion once in his wife's church, a stir was raised over whether he should be permitted to do so because he was not an Episcopalian. It took a special statement by the Episcopal bishop of Washington to quiet it down. "The President is, of course, welcome to receive holy communion in our churches," said the Rt. Rev. William F. Creighton.

On many weekends, the Johnsons go to the presidential retreat, Camp David, in nearby Maryland. There, Johnson sometimes worships privately with military men who guard the camp. But he often ventures down the mountain to surprise local clergymen.

One young pastor, the Rev. Martin A. Case, won't forget arriving at the door of the white brick Thurmont Methodist church one Sunday after conducting services at two other towns on his mountain circuit.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market buffed and puffed last week and wound up about where it had started. Trading was heavy with a little net change in the popular averages.

General Motors led the list to impressive gains early in the week, but then interest shifted to low-priced stocks and speculative favorites.

Profit-taking and weakness in aerospace defense issues and electronics stocks pressured prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed at 988.14 after reaching a record 994.20 on Tuesday. The net gain for the week in this widely watched market barometer was .84.

The Associated Press 60-stock average declined for the first time in eight weeks, from 368.2 to 367.0.

Growing reports of rising personal income and record industrial production for December helped buoy prices early in the week. But brokers said steadily increasing interest rates and a decline of 1.6 million shares in short interest cut into the optimism.

Volume totaled 47,365,481 shares, compared with 43,221,239 the previous week. It was sharply above the corresponding week a year ago when 26,917,740 shares changed hands.

The market pushed sharply high Monday and Tuesday. Wall Street looked to a possible push through the 1,000 level for the Dow Jones industrials but stocks fell Wednesday on a turnover of 10.25 million shares. Prices fell again Thursday and turned mixed on Friday.

Of 1,536 issues traded, 721 advanced, 714 declined and 151 were unchanged. New highs for 1965-66 were set by 276 issues and 31 touched new lows.

Brokers attributed a firm undercurrent to the market in the face of the late week decline to indication of stepped-up military outlays in Viet Nam and sharply higher 1966 corporate earnings.

But prices were mixed to a bit higher in the Treasury, corporate and municipal markets during the past week.

The biggest bond development of the week was President Johnson's order to Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler to boost U.S. savings bond interest rates. The amount of the increase was not disclosed.

On the New York Stock Exchange, bond volume for the week advanced to a total par value of $66.99 million from $55.54 million the previous week.

PRICES PRESSURED
IN GRAIN TRADING

CHICAGO (AP)—Except for one burst of active and general buying, trade in the grain futures market was at slow pace last week with prices of most commodities under light but steady pressure.

Soybeans were the only gainers of any consequence at the end of the week but they also closed with spots of weakness. Otherwise, the market had little to attract confidence in a further advance.

The pressure developed after virtually every contract on the board of trade had climbed to a succession of season highs over the past few weeks.

On Tuesday, buying came into all pits after it had become known that Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman had pledged that the United States would double its donations to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization for relief distribution abroad.

At the end of the week, wheat was 7 1/2 cents a bushel higher to 1 1/4 lower, March 11.68 1/2-69; corn 1 1/4 higher to 1 1/4 lower, March 1.29 1/2-30; oats 1 1/4 lower, March 73 cents; rye 2 1/2-3 1/2 lower, March 1.7 1/4; soybeans 1 to 5 cents higher, March 22.89 1/2-34.

Pennsylvania State House was the original name of Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—After three successive days of small declines, the market for butcher hogs showed a little more firmness Friday when prices were steady to 25 cents higher.

However, price changes were small throughout the week with the extreme spread at only 50 cents from the $30 top on Monday to $29.50 for a peak Thursday.

The offerings of 25,500 head for the week were up 1,000 from a week ago, but they were well distributed and within buyer expectations on most days.

For the week, prices were 25 to 50 cents lower with the average price estimated at $28.10, compared with $28.35 last week and $16.58 a year ago. Slaughter was estimated at 1.2 million head, largest since early December.

Cattle slaughter also was believed to have continued at last week's record rate and slaughter steers sold steady to 50 cents lower. Most of the decline was on offerings over 1,150 lbs. However, estimated price of all weights and grades of steers was estimated at $26.80 a hundredweight, up from $26.51 a week earlier. Last year it was $23.83.

Slaughter lambs were steady to 25 cents higher.

and proposed an end to the practice of secret votes that enable Parliament members to betray party discipline under such cover.

But he did not back down on his demands for a radical party and government shakeup. He said he was asking for a thorough clarification "that would achieve efforts" in the center-left government.

This was taken to mean that Fanfani, long a darling of the Socialists and Democratic Socialists serving with the Christian Democrats and Republicans in the coalition, wanted more leftwing Christian Democrats like himself in the cabinet and fewer ministers from the party's center and far right.

As the Christian Democrat and Republican party directorates ended separate meetings Saturday night, departing politicians said each party's parliamentary group was nearly unanimous in favoring reappointment of Moro as premier.

cussed it with President Nikolai V. Podgorny last month. Appeals had been sent by both Massachusetts senators and many others.

Mott, a 6-foot-5 representative of a book publishing house, was a tourist in Scandinavia when he crossed the Soviet Arctic border from Norway at an unguarded point on Sept. 4. He said at his trial that he was "hot, tired and lost" and regretted having crossed the border without thinking.

He was sentenced to 18 months on Nov. 24 in Murmansk. That would have made him eligible for parole on June 4, when half the time was served.

Mott told his parents in a meeting after his sentencing that he had been treated kindly in the Murmansk jail. But, he said, he was apprehensive about the unknown future of another prison.

He apparently was on his way from Murmansk, from where he had written a normal-sounding letter to the embassy on Jan. 2, to a labor camp when he died. The location of the camp was not disclosed.

Slaying

(Mark Harrison of the Toronto Star flew out of Lagos on Friday night and wrote from London that he had learned Balewa had been killed after "armed conspirators" crashed into his home a week ago. Harrison said the finance minister was slain in the kitchen of his home and that his wife was killed shortly afterward. Okotie-Eboh's body was found in a shallow grave, Harrison wrote.)

Balewa was widely regarded as the only Northern Nigerian who could conciliate the South in the Federation of Nigeria, Africa's most populous nation.

Barely a week ago he seemed at the height of his power, playing host to his fellow Commonwealth prime ministers in Lagos.

"A Modest Man"

A modest Moslem with a deep rich voice and slow way of speaking, Sir Abubakar seemed at times to make himself as inconspicuous as possible. Yet, wherever he appeared in flowing robes, his tall figure was impressive.

He became Nigeria's first prime minister in 1957 largely because he was a man of compromise, a skilled administrator. For nearly a decade he managed to hold in check the delicate balances of internal pressure politics among the federation's rival regions.

Like most of modern Africa's leaders, Sir Abubakar (the Tawa Balewa comes from the name of his tiny village of origin) started out as a rural teacher and scholar.

His father was a district head who saw that his son got a modern education in an area where Islamic tradition still opposed westernization.

Receiving special honors was retiring Mabel Grizzle who served at the local office for 32 1/2 years. Some of the 12 local operators have not chosen to continue working for the telephone company elsewhere but Mrs. Esther Folkers will work at the Jacksonville office and Chief operator Mildred Altman will assume the same position in the Carlville office.

Coffee and homemade cookies were served with mints and nuts by the wives of the firemen. The tea table was set up by city employees and hosts and hostesses were the city firemen and city employees who were assisted by some of the firemen's wives.

Registering callers was a retired chief operator, Miss Florence Whitworth. Among the many who called to pay tribute to the operators were Mayor Roy Prather, Odell Fellhauer, Jim Galtens, Charles Merritt, Charles Musgrave, Tom Nottingham, Ted Smith and Don Matthews.

At ten o'clock in the evening the switch to dial was made with Roodhouse being the last town in the county to make the conversion.

Roodhouse Notes

ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAM CHOSEN

Champion Porta landed three players on the PMSC all-tournament team selected by the JOURNAL COURIER sports department, while the next three finishers each placed two on the squad of ten players.

The winning Bluejays, who clipped Virginia in the title game, 41-34, placed forwards Vernie Ames, Alan Thomas and center Don Erickson on the squad.

Other picks were Steve Larsen and Reg Brunk, Virginia, Jim Morrison and Jim Paul, Triopia, and Carroll Logue and Bill Collins of Chandlerlerville. Rounding out the ten-man squad was Wendy Sapp of Bluffs.

Ames, a 6-1 senior, was Porta's leading scorer for their three-game stint, with 42 points, including 26 against Triopia in the semi-finals. Thomas tallied 25 and Erickson 22 in the three games. Ames' clutch shooting, mostly from distance, carried the Bluejays over rough spots in their last two games, while Erickson and Thomas were stalwarts on the boards all during the tourney and contributed clutch points in the final two games.

Larsen, a 6-5 senior standout, was Virginia's leading scorer with 41 points and a strong rebounder in all three games. His board work and tips in close carried Virginia in several tight spots. Larsen was a close choice over teammate Bill Middleton, another 6-5 performer. Brunk, the Redbirds' top clutch performer, ran the team offense and displayed good ball handling throughout the affair.

Chandlerlerville's Logue was the tournament's leading scorer with 45 points, despite playing in only two games, laying out the first with an ankle injury. Logue, probably the tourney's outstanding offensive player, poured in 28 points in the final night. Collins, a fast break artist in all three games, tallied 41 points.

Paul was Triopia's leading scorer in the tourney with 42 points, while Morrison was a clutch performer in all three games and ran the Trojan offense. These two were close choices over teammates Bill Meier and Harlan Fricke.

Sapp, Bluffs' only offensive threat in the Bluejays' only game, displayed good shooting with a 21-point effort against Triopia.

The honorable mention list shows Don Kording of Porta, Bill Middleton and Steve Graves, Virginia, Dean Eilers and Delbert Force, Chandlerlerville, Harlan Fricke and Bill Meier, Triopia, Tim Surratt, Meredosia, Chuck McNeeley, Routt and Greg Liehr, Perry.

Change In Strategy

Although Porta was seeded number one in the PMSC tournament, and was probably considered by most observers as the strongest team in the nine-team field, a change in strategy by first-year coach Lynn Trouté might have made the final difference.

The hot-shooting and mobile Bluejays won the top prize by virtue of a 41-34 edge over Virginia, a decision that was not settled until the closing seconds of the game.

Virginia used the same strategy against Porta that the Redbirds used in upsetting Chandlerlerville in the semi-finals, a team that had beaten coach Larry Overturf's charges by almost 40 points earlier.

The Redbirds, with the two tallest players in the tournament, 6-5 Steve Larsen and Bill Middleton, played Chandlerlerville and Porta, both running clubs, about the same; having its guards and sometimes a forward move the ball around near the center court mark. The maneuver was evidently designed to force the defense to come out, making it easier for the guards to drive around them and get the ball into the big men in the back.

On the basis of results Overturf's strategy worked well. The Birds took Chandlerlerville and had Porta down by four points early in the fourth quarter before some clutch shooting by the Bluejays turned the tide.

Porta's coach, who coached at Dallas City last year and at Tallula previously, a school now consolidated with Porta, said Saturday that he expected this type of game from Virginia and changed his plans slightly to cope with it.

"We thought they would play that way, just as they did against Chandlerlerville. We changed a little in that we chased them out front with only two men, where Chandlerlerville used three. We kept 6-1 Vernie Ames back to help plug the middle. Chandlerlerville sometimes got in trouble when Virginia's guards drove by them and set up three on two situations or left a big man open underneath."

"Our boys played a real good game; I could single each one out for praise. Alan Thomas did an outstanding job of rebounding, we had him for getting 18 in the championship game and there weren't too many shots. Don Erickson had eight rebounds and was high point man for both teams. Ames got 12. He always shoots that well."

"I feel the championship game would rank right alongside with our performances against Chandlerlerville and the first against Greenville earlier in the year. This was our last year to have a chance to win the tournament, and we're real glad we did."

Porta is pulling out of the PMSC after the current school year, with present designs on getting into the MSM loop.

HERE 'N' THERE: The pairings have been made for the second annual JHS four-team tournament which will be held next Friday and Saturday evening. Chicago power Crane Tech will take on Gillespie, a small school powerhouse with one of the state's leading scorers in center Bob Boston, at 7:00 Friday, with Jacksonville to meet Hannibal, Mo. in the second contest of the night. The winners will play for the title Saturday following the consolation game.

SCORES HOLE-IN-ONE

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Industrialist Cy Laughter of Dayton, Ohio, scored a hole-in-one Saturday in the third round of the Bing Crosby pro-amateur golf tournament.

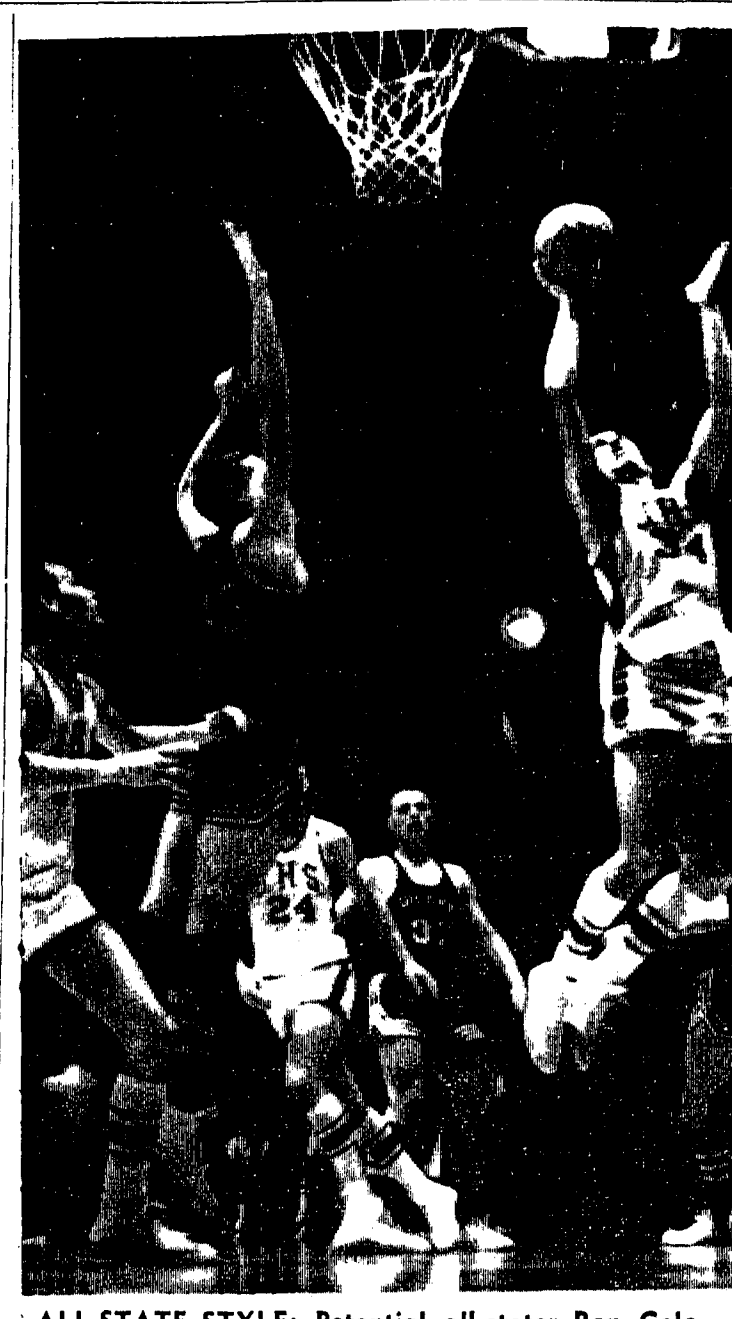

The score was tied again at 33-33, and 35-35 before the Tigers' Baker hit a free throw with 14 seconds left in the third period, and the tough ISD press picked off a St. James pass and worked the ball into Baker who popped a jump shot from ten feet out with five seconds showing to give the Jacksonville school a 38-37 lead going into the fourth period.

Moran dropped a field goal for St. James with 20 seconds gone in the fourth period, and ISD came back with a free toss

Coleman, Crimsons Notch 67-56 Win

DRIVING BY: Jacksonville's Abe Brown goes up for a layup two points after driving the baseline and getting between four taller Wood River defenders. JHS tipped the Oilers, 67-56, Saturday night.

ALL-STATE STYLE: Potential all-stater Ron Coleman prepares to bank in two of his 28 points after beating his man and driving close to the bucket. Defending is 6-5 Jim Bailey who scored 20 points for Wood River.

Hot Third Quarter Breaks Game Open

By BUFORD GREEN

Ron Coleman's dazzling offensive performance and a red-hot third quarter by Jacksonville provided plenty of cushion Saturday night, as the Crimsons raced to an impressive 67-56 triumph over a tall Wood River outfit.

Coleman's 28-point evening, with the potential all-stater displaying fine offensive moves all over the court, led the hot Crimson shooting effort that saw the winners rip the nets at a blazing 56% for the evening.

The big Wood River club, sometimes fielding a front line of 6-7, 6-5 and 6-4, led most of the first half before a hot Coleman which tied the game at 28-28, the Crimsons raced in end of the half shot the Crimsons on top to stay.

Scoring the final eight points of the first half, JHS came from two back to lead by six at intermission. Setting an even hotter pace in the third round, the Crimsons canned their first nine shots of the third frame to push into a 14-point advantage at 46-32.

Wood River was never able to recover from that hot streak, getting only within nine when the game was on ice in the final minute and a half.

The Crimsons' hot shooting night from the field was more than matched from the foul line. Coleman hit 17 of 19 chances for an 89% clip. Wood River hit a final average of 34% from the floor, and a cold 52% from the foul line where they missed 13 of 25 shots.

The victory boosts Jacksonville's season record to 9-6, while Wood River dropped its fifth straight and fell to 6-10 on the year.

Oilers Lead First

Wood River jumped off to a 4-0 lead thanks to four straight turnovers by Jacksonville, caused by a full-court press that gave the Crimsons trouble for most of the first quarter.

Coleman and Gary Ginder got the Crimsons back in the game after the visiting Oilers upset their lead to 8-2 after two and a half minutes. Three straight buckets by Coleman, coming on drives when he beat his man, and three points by Ginder drew the final first-quarter difference to only 15-14 after the hosts had tied the game at 11-11 and 13-13.

Coleman hit again early in the second period, and Robin Manker followed with a 15-footer to put Jacksonville into the lead for the first time, 18-17. Wood River soon grabbed the lead back on a pair of baskets by 6-5 Jim Bailey.

While Coleman was keeping Jacksonville within two or three points through the middle part of the quarter, Bailey and 6-4 Frank Brann kept Wood River in front.

Brad Lanier and Tom Newman hit 19 points each and Tim Surratt added 17 to the winning cause, while Phil Johnson's 19 topped Perry scoring. Meredosia upped its season record to 6-5 with the triumph, while Perry suffered its 13th loss in 14 games.

Baker Sparks 52-46 Triumph By Tigers

By TERRY SHAW

The ISD Tigers took their second win of the season Saturday night in a tight see-saw battle that saw St. James of Springfield lead throughout the first two quarters before ISD fought back in the second half to take the win, 52-46.

Sophomore Steve Baker, drawing his first varsity starting assignment, sparked the Tiger offense with 23 points on nine field goals and five free throws. Jim Siemer paced the losers with 12.

St. James took the lead in the first quarter as Harry Paul grabbed the tip and took it down for an easy layup. The Deaf School's Terry Storey sank a charity toss to bring the score to 2-1 in favor of the St. James Trademen.

Trading bucket for bucket throughout most of the first quarter, Moran sank a free throw with eleven seconds remaining on the clock to give the Trademen a 10-9 lead at the end of the first eight minutes.

The Tigers then matched the Trademen bucket for bucket until Harry Bloomgren of ISD hit a turn around jump shot from the dotted line to make the halftime score 26-22.

The second half saw the Deaf catch fire as they outscored the Trademen 30-20 to take the win. Bloomgren opened the third quarter with a free throw for the Deaf, and Moran countered with a field goal for the Trademen. ISD hit three from the outside to one for St. James from the free throw line to tie the ball game up at 29-29.

Tigers Take Lead

Siemer dropped one free throw, but the Deaf School picked up two points on a lay up by Baker to put the Deaf ahead for the first time in the ball game, 31-30.

The score was tied again at 33-33, and 35-35 before the Tigers' Baker hit a free throw with 14 seconds left in the third period, and the tough ISD press picked off a St. James pass and worked the ball into Baker who popped a jump shot from ten feet out with five seconds showing to give the Jacksonville school a 38-37 lead going into the fourth period.

Iowa Tips Spartans By 90-76

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa broke open a tight game late in the first half, then continued a rampage after intermission to hand Michigan State its first Big Ten basketball defeat 90-76 Saturday.

The lead changed hands six times during the first 10 minutes before Iowa moved ahead for good at 20-19.

The Hawks, in snapping a three-game Spartan winning streak in conference play, held only a one or two point margin until streaking to a 42-33 command during the last few minutes of the opening half.

Iowa maintained a big margin through most of the second half, although Michigan State managed to cut the deficit to 63-57 with 8:46 left in the game.

The victory was the second in four Big Ten games for the Hawkeyes, who are 10-3 overall. Michigan State is 10-4 for the season.

Triopia Teams Cop Tournament Crowns

Both Triopia squads amassed large margins in the early minutes of play Saturday night to gain first places in the light and heavyweight championship brackets of the Morgan county grade school tournament, sponsored by the Journal Courier.

The lighter Triopia crew gained their championship honors with a 37-18 count over Franklin, while the heavies rolled to an impressive 60-29 triumph, also over a Franklin unit.

In the opener, the junior Trojans moved to a 7-1 lead after the first period, and held a slim

Spahn Says Career Is Apparently Over

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Warren Spahn, the veteran southpaw who has won more games than any other left-handed pitcher in major league history, said Saturday night that his career was apparently over.

Spahn, who'll be 45 in April, said, "I think I can still pitch, but other people don't seem to agree with me."

He said he had been invited to spring training by the San Francisco Giants but indicated he would probably take a job outside baseball.

"It looks like I'll be out of baseball," he told a reporter here.

Spahn has a career won-lost record of 363-245. He won 20 or more games in 13 seasons, the last only three years ago, and received the Cy Young Award as the outstanding major league pitcher in 1957 when the Milwaukee Braves won the World Series.

20 Years With Braves
Spahn pitched for 20 seasons with the Boston and Milwaukee Braves before being sent to the New York Mets last year. He compiled a 7-16 record with the Mets and the Giants, who picked him up after his release by New York.

The lanky Oklahoman said Giants' officials told him when they invited him to spring training, "I think you should know we've got some left-handers on the club now that you might not be able to beat out."

He said he had contacted other clubs but received little encouragement.

Spahn is only 10 victories shy of the National League record for most games won, shared by Christy Mathewson and Grover Alexander at 373.

"As much as I'd like to play, I don't want to get job out of sympathy. I don't want to be a hanger on," Spahn said.

"Maybe this is the time to make the break."

He said he had business opportunities outside baseball and would make his decision before spring training. He did not describe what business he might enter.

Spahn made his remarks on a trip here to be honored at the Milwaukee Baseball Writers' dinner Sunday night.

Sadecki Searching For A Reason Now

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ST. LOUIS — (NEA) — The wind seems colder to Ray Sadecki this winter, the ice more treacherous, the snow more of an inconvenience.

Even the banquets, though not as frequent now, seem longer than usual.

As for the whole off-season, it seems longer, too. Very long. A year ago, everything was the opposite. The St. Louis Cardinals were the world champions and Ray Sadecki had been a 20-game winner.

It was a winter of content.

Then came the 1965 season. The Cardinals finished seventh and Ray Sadecki won six games. He lost 15 and his earned run average was an inflationary 5.20.

Within a year, the adjectives in front of his name had changed.

"Promising" Ray Sadecki had become "disappointing" Ray Sadecki.

"Explain it?" the Cardinal lefthander said.

"How can I? There are no excuses for lousy pitching. I just had trouble putting things together."

"It was a terribly frustrating experience. You come off a 20-game season and you feel that you're still pitching the same way, but this year they're beating you when you throw your best. So you begin to wonder a little. You start looking over your shoulder."

"And then, when you keep losing, they sit you on the bench or put you in the bullpen. I'm not complaining, though. They were justified in doing that to me."

"But once they take you out of rotation, it's tough. Now is the time you need work, but

Al Geiberger Regains Lead At Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Golf's thin man, Al Geiberger, caught fire with a blazing five-under-par 67 Saturday to regain the lead in the $104,500 Bing Crosby Tournament with a 54-hole total of 209, six-under-par for that distance.

The 28-year-old California pro, missed the national telecast with a late start at an off-camera course, but he hit the shots to take a three-stroke lead going into Sunday's final round of the 72-hole tournament.

While most of the big names were playing at Pebble Beach for Crosby's video production, Geiberger turned in his torrid round at Cypress Point, one of the other two courses played in this event.

Thousands swarmed the gallery to watch Arnold Palmer shoot a 73 and 213 total at Pebble Beach while only several hundred among the over-all crowd of 33,500 saw Geiberger.

Just a handful at Monterey Peninsula Country Club saw Bill Martindale of Jacksonville, Tex., grab second place with a 69 and 212.

Don Massengale, the Texan who held the midway lead, slipped to a 76, including a bogey on the 18th, for a 76 and his 213 total.

Tony Lema, who won the Crosby two years ago, remained in contention with a 72 at Pebble Beach and a 214 total.

At 215 came Jack Rule and Bob Goolby. Rule shot the best round of the tournament at the monster Pebble Beach with a 70. Goolby played Monterey Peninsula Country Club and shot a 67.

you can't get it. So your rhythm goes bad, your timing is gone. It's like a whirlpool and you can't get out.

"It seemed last year there was a lot more pressure. I guess it comes with being the World Series winner. Every game — and I mean that literally — seemed to be crucial from opening day on."

"I've never been particularly good early in the season anyway. I don't think I've won a game in April in three years. Last year was no different."

"I lost a couple of close ones early and, in baseball, that's the trouble. You get behind and you're in bad shape."

"This year I'm hoping for a better start. I've been working out three times a week, throwing with some of the other guys on the club."

"The purpose is to be stronger at the beginning of the season. I have to build my strength slowly because it takes me every bit of the training season to get my arm in shape."

A quick start would be a big help to Sadecki this season because more than anything he must regain the confidence that made him a 20-game winner.

This is why the off-season seems so long.

At 26, in baseball, it's rather difficult to think about failure when the peak years are just ahead.

Harold Megginson led Baptist Electric to first place in the last game. Harold had a 201, Sterling Elliott had a 165 and Wally Baptist had a 171 for 557 scratch and 607 with handicap.

Lee Riley remembers Pat as "kind of an awkward kid who liked to skate, swim and run—he discovered basketball late."

Lee is the oldest of the four Riley brothers who come out of Schenectady, N.Y.

The last time they got together was at Christmas vacation a couple of years ago, and they went down to an empty basketball court at one of the General Electric buildings (G.E. is big in Schenectady). They played two-on-two—Lee and Butchie, who stands 6-4 and weighs 210, against 6-4 Lenny, who was a varsity star at Florida Southern and Pat.

The Rileys are quite a family. Lee Sr. was in organized baseball for 23 years as an outfielder in the St. Louis Cardinal system. He advanced to a quick cup of coffee with the Philadelphia Phillies and ended up as a playing manager in the Philadelphia organization.

Lee Jr. played some basketball at Detroit, but football was his sport. He was a six-year man in the National Football League as a defensive back with the Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants, then wound up his career in 1962 by leading the American Football League in interceptions for the New York Titans.

Young Pat Riley, 12 years younger at 20, never touched football until his senior year at Linton High School in Schenectady and made all-city. But he also scored 1,000 points as a high school basketball All-

STAR — Gene Darnell's 27-point outburst paced the Barry Tigers to an easy non-conference triumph over Unity of Mendon, here Saturday evening.

The eventual winners jumped in front to stay in the opening quarter with a 20-8 margin. The two clubs played on almost even terms the rest of the way.

Barry is now 12-4 for the campaign.

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPS: The Triopia Grade school lightweight team is shown with their trophy following their victory over Franklin Saturday night. Front, l-r, are David Wiswell, Terry Surratt, Jack Dever, and Chris Nergenah. Back are Roger Fricke, Mike Meyer, Alvin Hymes, Roger Lakamp and Paul Swagmeyer. The Morgan County Grade School Tournament is sponsored by the JOURNAL COURIER. The Triopia heavyweights also won their championship.

OVERSHADOWING: Two tall Wood River defenders, 6-5 Jim Bailey and 6-4 Mike Brown, each get a hand on an attempted shot by Jacksonville's Ron Coleman.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Pat American, and Baron Adolph Rupp plucked him for Kentucky on a scholarship, competing with 100 other bidders.

Some baby! He stands 6-3 and has shoulders like a truck bulling through a side street in the garment center.

Pat is the leading scorer, rebounder and all-purpose man of the undefeated Kentucky basketball team.

MacMurray Grapplers Top Eastern

CHARLESTON—Coach Dave Camone's MacMurray Highlander wrestling squad captured six triumphs of nine contests here Saturday afternoon, and tied in a seventh, as they rolled to a 22-8 dual meet victory over Eastern Illinois University.

The win, MacMurray's fourth in five outings, saw heavyweight Bob Kellogg gain the only fall of the day, pinning Eastern's Lony Itsen in 5:05, while Rodger Ferguson fought to a draw in a 145 pound match.

Clan victors included freshman John Cronlund's 7-5 win in the 123 pound class; a 10-1 domination by Ron Otto at 137; Tom Knight's 10-3 victory in the 152 pound category; a 160 pound 4-0 win by Paul Nelson; co-captain Pete Brann's 6-0 triumph at 160; and Kellogg's pin in the heavyweight class.

He owes much to John Wooten and a lot of other guys who have played on the Brown's offensive line during his career. Without them he could be a 29-year-old with a 40-year-old body.

But usually the gaps have been there. When they weren't, Jim Brown still gained the yardage.

That was the challenge of the game for Brown. Now the challenge is gone.

"There comes a point," Brown said during the NFL Players Assn. meeting, "where a man develops as much as he ever will in one field. Then he wants to go beyond that point."

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A 40-point scoring effort by Cazzie Russell spearheaded defending champion Michigan to a 97-85 Big Ten basketball victory over Minnesota Saturday.

The triumph was the fourth in a row in the conference without a defeat for the Wolverines. Minnesota is 1-2 in league play.

Russell scored 22 of his points in the first half as the Wolverines took a 49-41 lead at intermission.

Minnesota never got closer than five points in the second half as the Wolverines stayed comfortably in front with the combination of Russell's scoring and rebounding by Jim Myers and Oliver Darden. Myers topped both teams with 24 rebounds.

Ed Nuy is the defending champion, while Vernon Massey was runnerup last year. Players entered this year are Bill McClelland, Gary Fellhauer, Don Benson, Jim Reynolds, Charles Williams, Vernon Massey, Bob Brennan, B. Woodward, Bill Hendley, Rex Hazelrigg, George A. Ashby, Ray Zveringham, Larry Brumley, Vince Tobin, Harold Day, Bill Overby, E. G. Davis, Gus Ruble and Ed Moy.

Prizes in the tournament start at $35 for first to $10 for fourth and $6 for high run. After play Saturday, McClelland led the pack with a 4-0 mark, followed by Moy at 3-1.

The public is invited to watch the matches this week.

CHICAGO (AP) — There will be a loud sendoff for a quiet Notre Dame man down at South Bend, Ind., the night of Feb. 7.

An overflow gang, at $20 per plate, will be whooping up a goodbye to Charlie Callahan, never known to talk above a monotone in 20 years as director of Irish sports publicity — except, perhaps, in distrust of the fidelity of long distance phone calls.

Callahan is abandoning his beloved alma mater, lured by plusher reward as publisher of the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

The Dolphins, bank-rolled by entertainer Danny Thomas, lack a head coach, but in Callahan they have a sort of coach for all seasons and purposes.

Callahan, a 1938 Notre Dame graduate, was an astute sounding board and confidante for a parade of Irish football coaches, including Frank Leahy, Terry Brennan, Joe Kuharich, Hughie Devore and the current boss, Ara Parseghian.

Tall, bespectacled Charlie never changed his breezy fedora during Leahy's famed unbeaten string of 39 games in the late 1940s.

And he never changed his solemn visage when Kuharich's 1960 team hit an Irish low with a 2-8 record, or when interim Coach Devore bogged down with 2-7 in 1963, or when Parseghian made his Irish debut in 1964 with a meteoric 9-1 mark

Morgan County's six-member official delegation will go to Springfield Friday firmly pledged to "Rowe for State Treasurer." The delegation was elected from the Morgan County Republican Central Committee at a recent meeting.

Members of the Morgan County delegation include: Helen Mayberry, county chairwoman and county treasurer; John B. Martin, central committee vice chairman and corner; Raoul Soomre, president of Young Republican Club; Ivan Petefish; Jimmy Fernandes; and Clarence Rimbey.

Rowe has received a warm reception from several counties throughout the state during the past three weeks in his bid for endorsement at the state conference.

Committee To Review Candidates

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Appointment of 30 persons to a committee which will hear qualifications of state office candidates seeking endorsement at the Republican State Conference Jan. 28-29 has been announced.

Harry G. Taylor of Decatur, who announced the appointments, is included in the list. Taylor is president of the Illinois County Chairmen's Association.

The committee will make no recommendations, but will submit the qualifications of candidates to the Springfield conference of 1,342 delegates who will vote on endorsements for U.S. Senator, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Treasurer.

The conference is expected to back Charles H. Percy, Chicago industrialist, for the U.S. Senate nomination and Ray Page of Springfield for re-election as superintendent of public instruction.

A wide open race is in prospect for the state treasurer nomination.

Among those expected to be considered are Harris Rowe, Jacksonville; Arthur J. Falls, Jacksonville; Robert Hatch, Chicago; John Meyer of Danville and Robert A. Dwyer, Winnetka.

Republican State Treasurer's Race To Hold Limelight

CHICAGO (AP) — Misgivings of some Illinois Republican leaders over the state primary slate endorsement planned next weekend at a party candidate conference in Springfield, persisted Saturday, but no one appeared inclined to shun the Jan. 28-29 sessions.

There had been some speculation as to the role State Treasurer William J. Scott would pursue, but he has decided to appear and address the caucus while reiterating his preference for an open primary.

Scott's job will be the major stake among state offices this year and at least six prospective candidates have indicated they'd like to run for it.

There appeared little doubt that Charles H. Percy is the favored prospect for the U.S. Senate nomination to vie with Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Democratic incumbent, in November. Ray Page of Springfield is expected to bid for re-election as state superintendent of public instruction without significant opposition.

Party professionals, including most county chairmen, favored the primary slate selection by convention, arguing that it will benefit the Republican candidates by focusing public attention earlier upon those most likely to succeed, and permit work on behalf of those endorsed months earlier than would be possible in an open primary.

The Democrats have backed Percy Saturday was under some pressure to make clear his attitude on current efforts of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican Senate minority leader from Illinois, to block consideration of the repealer bill in the Senate on Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Passage of the repealer measure, a part of President Johnson's program, would outlaw state right-to-work laws.

Illinois' Democratic senator, Douglas, has taken a firm stand in support of the bill to kill the state right-to-work laws.

One demand came Saturday from Stanley L. Johnson, executive vice president of the state AFL-CIO, that Percy make his position clear. Johnson told 125 local union officials in Chicago that "people are entitled to an expression on the issue from all candidates for the Senate."

With decisions at the state party meeting likely to affect mostly the chances of state treasurer aspirants, Scott said that he felt all of the six mentioned thus far are qualified. Three of these are employed in Scott's office at present. They are Elmer J. Hoffman of Wheaton, former state treasurer; former State Sen. John Meyer of Danville and Arthur Falls of Ashland.

The others are Harris Rowe of Jacksonville; Robert Hatch of Chicago and Robert Dwyer of Winnetka.

Findley urged that those young people in the United States today take the responsibility to "match the accomplishments of the youthful inventors of the American republic in 1787."

He also indicated that the American people are disturbed by the thought of having to "go it alone" in Southeast Asia, while our so-called allies sit on their hands.

"But, they are also worried about what lies ahead if the United States attempts to police the world by itself," Findley commented.

Findley called on the Junior Chamber of Commerce to take the initiative to spark the movement of applying youthful genius toward bringing the entire Atlantic community together.

Findley is expected to appear at a citizens banquet kicking off the YMCA fund raising campaign in Jacksonville tonight.

Homeless Fire Victims' Fund Reaches $800

More than $800 has been contributed toward assisting families left homeless by a fire on the public square last Saturday morning, that resulted in the deaths of seven persons.

Spokesmen for the Salvation Army and Red Cross related that all of the persons involved have been located in housing.

Two persons, Virgil Duncan, 70, and Alice McCausland, 49, are still patients at Holy Cross hospital. Duncan is reported to have a respiratory ailment and Alice McCausland is recovering from burns.

Several of the gifts have been specified for certain persons, while others have been turned over to the various organizations to distribute as they see fit.

Red Cross, according to Mrs. Betty Houston, is handling financing of hospitalization for those unable, and has also helped in furnishing heat and a gas stove for a family.

Red Cross has also provided rent for those persons involved in the disaster.

New YMCA Building Plans To Be Unveiled At Citizens Banquet

Over 500 persons are expected to attend the YMCA citizens dinner this evening at McClelland dining hall at MacMurray college and hear plans for the new $650,000 Jacksonville YMCA discussed.

Speaker for the dinner will be St. Louis shoe company executive Monte E. Shoemaker, presently campaign chairman for Greater St. Louis in charge of raising four million dollars to expand Y facilities there.

The Jacksonville YMCA is to be a memorial to Sherwood Eddy and will bear his name. Eddy was known throughout the world during the entire first half of the century as a leader in YMCA and other youth movements.

Mrs. Eddy will be an honored guest at tonight's banquet, at which time C. Leple Kanaz will present a special tribute to the late Mr. Eddy.

Local fund drive chairman J. R. Davidmeyer said that the week of January 23-30 has been proclaimed "YMCA Week" in Jacksonville.

Officials of the organization hope to complete their fund drive for $275,000 within eight weeks, and begin work on the building this spring.

Following the purchase of the 31-acre tract of land for the new Y, and with assets totaling a little more than $100,000 in addition to the building site, a campaign for $350,000 for the construction of the building began in January, 1965.

At present, 22 gifts totaling $135,000 have been donated, and Y officials are now ready to complete the drive for the remaining $215,000.

It is estimated that $650,000 will be necessary to complete the project as planned.

New Concept
The new facilities, located on the west side of Jacksonville, between Morton road and Mound avenue at Woodland avenue, will embody the "new concept" of the YMCA that will enlarge the traditional present programs and services and provide space for new activities.

The new approach to YMCA building across the country has been to create programs that will be available to the entire family.

Family memberships, as well as the traditional child's plan, will be offered when the facilities are completed.

The average cost of family rates in other YMCAs with similar facilities is $75. This is not yet a set rate for the local program. Y officials comment.

A few critics of the building site have complained that the new facilities will not adequately serve those children who are in need of Y programs.

Directors maintain that there was not sufficient space at the present location of West State and Kosciuszko to build adequate facilities.

Because of the varied and complete programs that are planned for the new Y, a large charge of carrying a concealed weapon and more compact area was required.

The building itself is scheduled to contain 28,000 square feet of floor space, situated on a split level type structure.

Outdoor Facilities
Also included on the site will be tennis courts, a baseball field, camping and picnicking.

Household Science Meets At Applebees

The Jacksonville Household Science club met Tuesday, January 18, at the home of Mrs. A. Wadsworth Applebee, 5 Westwood, with Mrs. Leonard Gray as assistant hostess.

"Hobbies and Collecting" was the subject of a paper presented by Mrs. Jewell Mann who was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Mangin. Defining a hobby as something in which one takes an extravagant interest, apart from one's regular work, Mrs. Mann stated that the three fundamental types of hobbies are those for the acquiring of knowledge, the acquiring of things or collecting and the creating of things.

The prime conditions that a hobby must satisfy if one is to "ride" it to a successful finish include strong appeal, suitable to one's age, adaptable to one's ability, and does it fit in with the time one can give to it and does it line up with one's pocketbook.

Mrs. Mann pointed out the broad incentives that attract people to hobbies or the collecting of things. These are relaxation, pleasure, the making of money, bringing of popularity or recognition, making new friends and social contacts, giving purpose to travel, and self-improvement or the opportunity for the expression of creative ability. She enumerated a vast variety of hobbies and things collected, in most cases for the remembrance of things past. Members were referred to several source books on this subject as well as the magazine, "Hobbies."

Preceding the paper members responded to roll call with practical suggestions about how to indulge in hobbies which could be useful as well as enjoyable.

A social hour followed adjournment with Mrs. John T. Taylor, president, and Mrs. Mann presiding at the tea table.

100 Years Of Dependable Banking

One hundred years ago next Tuesday, January 25th, the bank now known as the Elliott State Bank was founded by Edward R. Elliott, Samuel R. King and Robert Hockenhull. Since the first of this year the people at this local bank, justly proud of their heritage, have been celebrating this centennial in varied and fitting ways.

The community has shared this observance because all citizens, whether bank customers or not, realize the positive contributions which this solid financial institution has made to the economic stability and growth of the Jacksonville area.

It hasn't all been days of roses. Recollections of the great depression are still all too clear in the minds of many who personally felt the pinch of hard times. These memories, though not usually bitter any more, certainly are not nostalgic.

In those days it was stability, integrity and conservative dependability which counted. People had to work hard just to keep from slipping backward. "Growth" was simply not the temper of the time. During these economically perilous days the Elliott State Bank stood like the rock of Gibraltar. Jacksonville residents had every confidence in its management. They still do.

In recent years, however, business conditions have been so good that we tend to think of an ever-expanding economy. The modern worry is that of steadily mounting prices and costs which might spiral into damaging inflation. In this prosperous atmosphere the Elliott State Bank has also met the challenge. With progressive plans it has enlarged and modernized its banking facilities. And perhaps more importantly through an enlightened loan policy, it has made possible the financing of new businesses and industrial plants. These, in turn have meant more and better jobs for the residents of the area.

On the occasion of its 100th Anniversary the Elliott State Bank deserves the plaudits of us all for its outstanding record of continuous steadfast service through years of wars and depressions, as well as through years of peace and prosperity.

The Four Year Term

The idea of amending the Constitution to provide a four-year term instead of a two-year term for members of the House of Representatives has been kicking around for a long time. One such proposal, introduced by Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania and Sen. Lee Metcalf of Montana, has been pending the past year or more.

Never in the past, however, has the four-year term idea been given such impetus as it received in President Johnson's State of the Union message. Though no hearings on the Clark-Metcalf measure have been held by the Judiciary subcommittee which has it, the chances are now good that there will be hearings before long.

The basic idea is appealing, largely because it would enable congressmen to spend more time on the public's business and less on electioneering. But not all proponents agree with President Johnson's view that a four-year congressional term should coincide with the presidential term. There are sensible arguments both for and against that notion. This suggests that the whole matter should be thoroughly discussed, with political scientists as well as working politicians being heard.

Dear Ann:

Speaks From Experience

By ANN ANSWERS
Dear Ann Landers: The man whose wife died after taking an overdose of sleeping pills may not have been lying to his children when he told them, "Mommy made a mistake and took the wrong medicine."
Two years ago I went into a deep depression when we lost our only son. Our physician prescribed sleeping tablets along with tranquilizing pills. The night of the funeral I took two sleeping tablets and left the bottle on my bedside table. I was awakened at 4:00 P.M. the next afternoon by my panic-stricken husband and a concerned physician.
During the night I had taken four sleeping pills although I had no recollection of doing so. I could have taken the whole bottle and died.
The physician told us that medicine should never be placed on a bedside table. It should always be placed in the medicine cabinet so one must get out of bed and walk to get it. Please publish this letter. It could save a life. —LUCKY TO BE ALIVE

Dear Lucky: Thank you for the life-saver. And while we are on the subject, I'd like to add this: Partly-used bottles of medicine should be stored in a locked cabinet to eliminate the danger of getting the wrong medicine during the night.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been happily married for over 20 years. Craig is a fine person and he is kind and generous by nature. We have very few arguments and our sex life is excellent. During the last several months Craig has shocked me with his remarks in mixed company about our intimate relations. His slyly worded "jokes" suggest that I am an inadequate bed partner. Can it be that when men reach their middle 40's they feel the need to appear more active sexually than their wives? Is this part of the male ego? I know very well that Craig is totally satisfied at home and I cannot figure out why he tries to make it appear otherwise. Please enlighten me. —PUZZLEMENT

Dear Puzzled: The reason for Craig's behavior is anybody's guess, and your guess is probably right on target. But whatever the reason, he is guilty of gross bad taste. I can't imagine a topic less suitable for small talk than this one. Tell him to stay off the subject unless he wants to be thought of as a boorish clattertrap.

Dear Ann Landers: I married into a family that just loves to give showers for engaged girls, new brides, new babies, anniversaries, birthdays, and anything they can dream up. Many of the women bring their husbands along, and even their children. They say, "I couldn't get a sitter," or "my husband decided to come and see if he could get up a pinochle game."

I always wind up feeding eight or ten more people than I had planned on and, of course, I run short of food. Would it be all right to tell the women when I invite them to my house to please leave their husbands and kids at home? —OUTNUMBERED

Dear Out: Most husbands couldn't be dragged to a woman's shower with a 20 mule team. Since you married into a family where the husbands enjoy going why not count on it and let the men have their pinochle game?

Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Washington How to Get Ahead: Have Wife Work; Lay Off Nags

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Perhaps the one goal that most of the 197 million Americans have in common is the desire for more money.

In their new book, "This U.S.A.," Ben Wattenberg and Richard Scammon (former director of the Census Bureau) use 1960 census statistics to work out a formula typifying the American who is getting ahead the fastest. Here it is: "Be a doctor. Be a white, western doctor. Live in the suburbs, encourage your wife to work. Have three children, be a veteran aged 45 to 49. Don't play the ponies."

President Johnson — like the late President John F. Kennedy — is calling fewer and fewer cabinet meetings. Kennedy averaged less than one meeting every five weeks, and many of them lasted barely half an hour. Johnson initially called a session every four weeks or so, but this regularity has tailed off since his operation. There has been only one cabinet meeting in the last three months.

This infrequency can sometimes be helpful to cabinet members, as former HEW Secretary Abraham Ribicoff found out when he resigned to run for the Connecticut Senate seat he now holds.

At a farewell party, Ribicoff remarked that it was difficult for him to maintain the image of a moderate Democrat, because he was always being associated in the minds of his constituents — with such "super liberals" as Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and the then Secretary of Labor Arthur

Goldberg. Robert Kennedy, attorney general at that time, broke in with a quick reply: "Just tell your people back home the President never has any cabinet meetings and you've never even met any of those fellows."

Most legislators use their time off during congressional adjournment to round up votes at home so that they can return to Washington come re-election time. Techniques of greeting voters during these forays vary.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., recalls that, during his days as Wisconsin governor, he tried an approach which was not really his style. He greeted a small town store owner — a complete stranger — with a big smile, a handshake and the words: "I'm Governor Nelson. Haven't I met you someplace before?"

The technique backfired when the man calmly replied: "I don't know. I meet so many people I can't remember them all."

Summing up the Republican election gains of last November — which, with the exception of John Lindsay's victory in the New York mayoralty race, were rather minor — a Republican politician recently concluded, "The GOP is not dead, it isn't even sick."

Somebody passed this remark on to Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, who sniffed: "I've always admired modern medical science, but I never before believed it possible to have a healthy case of rigor mortis."

Mature Parent Fanatics Repel

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
I once met a female ex-Communist official. A European, she wasn't an ex-Communist sympathizer or ex-left winger but a real, honest-to-goodness ex-big shot in the top echelons of her country's Communist party. Converted and a fellow citizen of the free world, she was introduced to me by a European friend.

She was squat and dark and her face was a map of many terrible lines and deaths. Shapeless, a huddle of black clothes in a chair, she rather resembled a toad. She was not a woman another woman could envy, I said. "How do you do? I see you are all still having tea. How nice I got here in time to have some with you."

She didn't speak or touch my extended hand. Instead, she gave me a look, the kind of look an entomologist might give to a bug while thinking, "This species isn't worth the chlorine form." Then, resuming her conversation with the Austrian journalist beside her, she said in her heavily accented voice: "You are naïf, my friend. I was not Dietrich von Stollen, who vass murr-dere at 2:35 on the afternoon of Nov. 6, 1950, and so on dat road near Lucerne. It was de Yugoslav Panovic who vass murr-dere. He and de Czech Malovsky crossed de Swiss border a week later but dey got him and murdered him on dat November afternoon as he vass returning from a visit to his mistress Yolande von Tirpitz, who vass domiciled . . .

I'm making up these names, of course. I don't remember the real ones. I don't remember anything but the sound of the toneless, guttural voice reeling off endlessly mysterious names, dates and events, mingled with sinister — sounding addresses, numbers and relationships. It went on and on until I thought, "My goodness, this woman isn't a person at all. She's a file cabinet for a million bitter and corrosive hates. Though a fellow citizen of the free world, I bet she knows the names and addresses of every European laundry that ever washed a former comrade's underwear. She gives me a headache and I'm getting out."

Converted or unconverted, she was not Dietrich von Stollen, who vass murr-dere at 2:35 on Deal three of round eight of the trials proved a trap for several South players when they reached six hearts on bidding similar to that in the box.

At those tables where West opened a club slam always made. South would take his ace of clubs, ruff a club, return to his hand with the 10 of spades and try to ruff another club. East would over-ruff dummy's jack of trumps with the queen and lead a second spade, whereupon South would discard one diamond on the third spade and then play ace and another diamond.

South would be careful to ruff this with the nine of trumps and West would not be able to overruff.

When West opened his singleton diamond it would also have been possible to make the contract. The play would be to win with the ace of diamonds, lead a club to the ace, ruff a club, lead two rounds of trumps and then play spades. Spades would go around three times so that South would be able to discard his last club on the third spade and his jack of diamonds on the fourth spade.

This play would have worked but everyone chose a different and unsuccessful line of play against the diamond opening. To be exact they all tried to ruff out both losing clubs. This time when East overruled the club he was able to give his partner a diamond ruff to set the contract.

Which was the better play? From a result standpoint the play they adopted was inferior. It did not work. The other would have. From the standpoint of play against unknown holdings, the losing play had a very slightly better chance for success.

FINDING THE WAY

The Fire to Make Church

The Conscience of Society

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D., thoughtful giver is going to be concerned about the use of the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Suddenly there is a rash of fires. For years, most of us were content just to be "burned up" as indignant protesters concerning some cause or other.

Now there are draft card burners. One citizen burned his library card in protest to a five-cent fine. Some have even burned themselves.

I'm concerned today about the pledge card burners. These are people who cancel their church subscriptions because they disagree with a civil rights stand of the denomination, with some particular action by the congregation or with some sermon by the preacher.

This is getting to be a difficult problem. The bishop of the Episcopal Diocese in New York commented recently that his church has lost hundreds of thousands of dollars because of a civil rights stand. In my own community a Presbyterian church has had the cancellation of pledges totaling $20,000 for the budget of the church.

When a committee of the National Council of Churches suggested that the United Nations rethink its policy concerning Red China, local councils of churches found their budgets jeopardized. A local pastor told of the pledge cards with the notation that no moneys were to be given to a certain cause in that community upon penalty of cancellation of the entire pledge. The pledge card burners dot the nation.

Obviously, the gift of money is a vote of confidence and the best principles of stewardship demand care and concern in the designation of one's gift. The thoughtful giver is going to be concerned about the use of the money. However, another major problem confronts us. What is the church meant to be? Are we suggesting that the church reflect the current thought patterns or is it to reflect the will of God as men best understand that moral law?

If the wallet is used as a tyrant, will the church only be the mirror of the neighborhood instead of becoming the conscience of society? Such are the questions that ought to be considered before the pledge card is burned or the subscription canceled. The church ought to be a laboratory where these basic questions are thought through. On too many occasions these moral pronouncements may only have been given from a pulpit where there was no possibility of discussion. We need a new maturity for discussion within our churches, a freedom where men can differ without jeopardy or without loss of personal dignity.

The pledge card burners use a method to express their negative vote but it thwarts lively and provocative thinking. It effectively isolates us into a contemporary mind-set instead of seeking the mind of God.

I'm in favor of the right kind of fire in the church. That's the kind that causes men and women to speak with courage, debate with intelligence and counsel with maturity. That kind is described in the New Testament where those men of the church were typified as "afame with the spirit."

On Atheism as Way of Life

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A four-day conference on atheism held at Dushanbe, in Tadzhikistan, has passed by almost unnoticed here.

Yet it was attended by some 140 key Soviet Central Asian Communist party leaders and ideologists.

Information seeping out of that conference shows that Russian Communist officials are seriously worried because religion persists strongly in the wide sweeps of Soviet Central Asia despite the best efforts of the government's atheist cadres.

The seminar was held to develop new combat strategy.

The conference delegates complained that some of their atheist propagandists aren't really working at the job.

Others are willing to talk on atheism at the drop of a hat but don't know that they're talking about.

"The low level of scientific work in the field of atheism," the conferees said, is a major handicap to winning over the religious to nonbelief.

The delegates were very unhappy, too, about the poor atheistic training of writers, newspapermen and motion picture actors.

They did see a few bright spots though.

As an example of how things should be done, the delegates mentioned Yangiyl, in Uzbekistan, where 33 atheist clubs work actively in schools, stores, shops and at special agitation centers. "These energetic atheists recruited squads of educated engineers, doctors and teachers to work on the more sophisticated of the religious citizens.

The conferees commended the Atheism Houses, "methodology centers of scientific - atheistic propaganda," set up in a number of cities. They recommended more of these.

They commended the work of the young atheists' club at the Madana Collective, which publishes the "Young Atheist" newspaper and which admits women as full members. The young atheists of this school, it was reported, have an "active influence" on their parents.

Delegates sadly saw need, however, for a lot more to be done.

They recommended expansion of atheistic material in textbooks.

They said "special attention must be given to staffing day nurseries and kindergartens with . . . workers who are free of religious prejudices."

They decided "it is necessary to . . . create antireligious museums."

The conference proposed that "historians, archeologists, architects and propagandists (unite) to assure that historical and architectural monuments become centers . . . for the propagation of atheism."

The delegates said it was essential to improve the anti-religious training of teachers, medical workers and preschool pioneer leaders.

Things aren't going well for the Soviet atheists in Central Asia.

Sees Favorable Price For Beef This Year, But Maybe Profit Ebb

Favorable prices for cattle appear to be in prospect for 1966, reports University of Illinois livestock marketing economist M. B. Kirtley. Prices of fed cattle will likely average slightly higher than in 1965 and stocker and feeder cattle prices will probably show an even greater increase over 1965 prices.

The favorable price situation should not suggest unrestrained optimism, Kirtley emphasizes. Even with generally favorable prices, there are still risks in the cattle business.

Market expansion for beef will continue as U.S. population increases. Favorable business conditions will produce higher consumer incomes that are directly related to increased spending for beef.

The supply side also indicates favorable price prospects, Kirtley says. In view of the heavy slaughter during 1965, the number of cattle on farms and ranches on January 1, 1966, will probably be down at least a million head from the year earlier.

Cars and trucks are vital to farming and to our overall way of life. So car insurance cost is important to you. Rates are on the rise and there are reasons for this increase. There's a record number of vehicles on the road, more accidents, rising costs of car repair and medical expenses.

But according to the Insurance Information Institute a big factor may be summed up in one word — FRAUD.

Many times injured drivers sue for large amounts and receive them — the reasoning being that the insurance company is the one who is paying.

Then sometimes insurance repair bills are padded so the owner of the damaged car won't be out of pocket his deductible share of the cost.

The question is — who's being taken? The insurance company? No, they pass the cost right back to us in higher premiums.

To combat this learn how property and liability insurance works. Realize that the insurance company is, in a way, a trustee for the premiums it collects and it must use discretion in who and what is insured and must adhere to the policy conditions in settling claims.

Demand honesty in settling claims.

If you serve on a jury in a damage suit remember that exorbitant claims raise premiums. Be fair in awarding damages.

Now you should:

Remember those hot summer days of last July and August.

Keep the tank heaters going.

Pet the dog.

LAW on the farm WHO CAN ZONE WHAT?

Because many Illinois counties, cities and villages have zoning ordinances, or are taking steps toward such ordinances, this question is frequently asked: Who has the power to zone in particular areas — the county or the municipality?

City and village officials have the primary authority and responsibility to zone the land within corporate limits. If the city has not enacted a zoning ordinance, the county is required to zone within the corporate limits of these unincorporated cities and villages. The 1965 session of the General Assembly added this provision to the county zoning enabling legislation, possibly as a means of inducing city officials to enact their own ordinances if they disagree with the county board's zoning ordinance. If the city later enacts a zoning ordinance, it supersedes the county ordinance within the city limits.

If the county has not adopted a zoning ordinance, city officials may adopt zoning regulations for the city and the area one and a half miles beyond the corporate limits. If the county thereafter prepares a zoning ordinance, it must include all land in the county except land located within the corporate limits of cities already zoned.

While the county is preparing its ordinance, it must listen to the suggestions of zoned cities regarding the mile-and-a-half area. The law gives these cities the right to protest the proposed county zoning of this territory because these areas will probably be annexed in the foreseeable future.

If the city proposals are not entirely incorporated into the proposed county ordinance, the only way the ordinance can be passed is for a three-fourths vote of all members of the county board to override the city's proposals.

Once the county has adopted a zoning ordinance, zoned cities have a voice in amendments involving surrounding land within a mile and a half. For example, suppose that a landowner were to request the county board to amend the zoning ordinance to allow him to use his farmland for an auto graveyard or a dump. If this land were located within a quarter of a mile of a nice residential area on the outskirts of town, could the city do anything to stop the plan?

The city has the right to protest the ordinance amendment. After the protest is filed, the county board may amend the ordinance only by a three-fourths vote of all members. Although a mile and a half may be a reasonable distance for a moderate-sized community, many people believe that large, rapidly expanding cities should have an official voice in the use and zoning of land beyond the mile-and-a-half limit.

On the other hand, it seems ridiculous to authorize a tiny hamlet, with no foreseeable growth possibilities, to zone the area a mile and a half beyond its limits.

While the Illinois statutes could be improved, they do provide a clear division of municipal and county authority concerning one of the most rapidly changing and challenging portions of every county — the fringe areas of the cities.

UI Economist Outlines Wheat Program Changes

40.5% Brings Maximum

Payments for diversion are 40 percent of the county loan rate times the farm projected yield, Erickson says. In 1965 participating farmers received payments on both domestic and export certificates. Domestic certificate payments in 1965 are valued at about $1.30 per bushel on 45 percent of the farm allotment based on projected yields. Actual value of the domestic certificates will be the difference between the $1.25 loan rate and July 1, 1966, parity. Planting 40.5 percent of the wheat allotment will qualify the farmer for the maximum certificate payment for the domestic certificates.

In 1966 there will be no payment for export certificates, Erickson says.

Tighter Compliance in '66

Erickson says to obtain program payments wheat farmers who sign up for the wheat program must remain within their intentions. Filing additional intentions for minimum-level participation is not permitted in the 1966 program.

The penalty for overplanting is a reduction in payments. In some cases payment reduction for overplanting will be twice the county loan rate times the projected yield on the acreage involved. For authorized harvesting of diverted acres, the payment reduction will be the county loan rate times the farm yield on the acres involved.

Erickson points out that these provisions for reduced payments will encourage closer compliance with sign-up intentions through the penalty.

Additional details on the wheat program should be obtained from the local ASCS office, he says.

ILLINOIS FARMERS PRODUCE BILLION DOLLAR CROP

Will this year match 1965 as a good year for midwestern farmers? Maybe. But last year was an exceptional one in the Midwest, especially in Illinois. Our crops, particularly corn, were very good. And profits from livestock production were unusually high.

Corn is by far the most important element in Illinois agriculture. About half of the state farm income originates in our cornfields. In 1965 Illinois farmers produced a corn crop worth a billion dollars, making Illinois the first state to produce a billion dollar crop of any kind.

The final 1965 official estimate of the Illinois corn crop was 892 million bushels of grain. This amount was 25 percent more than the 1964 crop and 19 percent more than the previous record output in 1963. It was enough to put Illinois in first place among the states in corn production. Corn made into silage included an additional 20 million bushels. Corn production in 1965 therefore totaled about 912 million bushels.

At an average of $1.10 a bushel, the value of the 1965 Illinois corn crop was just above $1 billion. This amount does not include government payments received by farmers under the feed grain program. These payments were near, or above, $100 million.

The state average corn yield was 92 bushels per acre, which was 14 bushels higher than in 1964 and 7 bushels above the previous record set in 1963. Illinois had the second highest yield in the Corn Belt. Indiana was first with 94 bushels. Yields in other states were: Iowa, 82; Wisconsin, 76; Ohio, 75; Missouri, 72; Nebraska, 67; Michigan, 62; and Minnesota, 61.

Some of these states may have higher yields in 1966, but yields in Indiana and Illinois are not likely to equal those of the past year.

Biggest Soybean Crop

Illinois farmers produced 175 million bushels of soybeans in 1965. This amount was 22 percent more than in the previous year and 6 percent more than the previous record crop produced two years before.

The big crop was the result of a large acreage and high yields. The USDA estimated the harvested acreage to be 6,021,000, which was 5 percent more than in 1964 and 8 percent more than in 1963. The state average yield was 29 bushels per acre, 4 bushels more than the record yield of 1963. Soybean production in 1966 could equal or exceed 1965 levels.

Soybean prices are receiving support from high prosperity in the industrialized nations, food shortages in the underdeveloped countries, and threats of international conflict.

Cattle feeders made unusually good profits in 1965. Prices of Choice steers at Chicago averaged about $26 a hundred pounds, the best in three years. Since these cattle had been bought at unusually low prices, the profit margins were very good. Cattle now in feedlots have cost much more than those sold in 1965. Consequently, profits may be lower even if prices of fat cattle exceed those of last year.

Ashland Farmer Sets World Soybean Mark With 82.7 Bushels

A year ago this week Plowland & Meadow carried on illustrated story on John Reiser, young Ashland farmer, who had just set a new world soybean production record—73.5 bushels per acre.

Last October this department stated that it was rumored that the 1964 record had been bettered and if so the announcement would be made in January, 1966.

Last week it was announced that Reiser harvested 82.7 bushels per acre from a 5.5-acre plot entered in the 1965 Illinois 5-Acre Soybean Contest.

Central Illinois had the best soybeans in the state last year. Sangamon county farmers placed second and fourth and Howard Meggison, who farms northeast of Woodson, placed third.

The contest is held under the supervision of the Extension service through the farm advisers: in Cass county, Russell Meridith; Sangamon, Denver Corn; Morgan, George Trull.

Reiser's record-breaking plot was planted to the new variety, Wayne, on rolling land that had been in alfalfa two years previously.

The Ashland farmer is sold on narrow-row soybeans. He'd been wanting to switch to 30-inch rows for some time and decided last spring to make the machinery change because of labor shortages. With the equipment he now has, he can handle 400 acres of cropland without help. His acreage is divided about equally between corn and soybeans.

Fifty acres of land he bought two years ago made 37 bushels in 1964 when planted to Harrow soybeans. This past year, using narrow rows and Shelby beans, he averaged 51 bushels per acre on the same ground.

Reiser fall-plows almost all of his 400 acres of cropland. He cultivates in the spring as soon as he can get into the field. Then he cultivates again in front of the planter. All soybeans get 400 pounds of 5-15-8 plus a broadcast blend of 0-70-90 per acre.

With narrow-row beans, Reiser feels that herbicides are a must. He used 10 percent amiben granules at the rate of 7.5 pounds per acre in 13-inch bands. From his records, Reiser can tell at a glance the rate and time of application of all fertilizers, herbicides and insecticides he uses.

Of Reiser's success with soybean production, Farm Adviser Meridith says, "If you had to isolate one factor in John's success, it would have to be timeliness of operation. Many farmers just miss bumper crops because they're about 30 days too late."

Reiser planted corn from April 29 to May 2 and soybeans from May 3 to 10.

In addition to Reiser's new record, the next four placings in the soybean contest were "highly respectable."

Second place went to Robert Fairchild, Rochester, Sangamon county, with a yield of 58.4 bushels. He planted Clark 63 beans on May 19 in 38-inch rows. He followed with corn, cultivated twice and used amiben as a pre-emergence herbicide.

To win third place in the state contest Meggison planted Shelby beans on May 4 in 38-inch rows. When it came time to combine he couldn't decide what five acres of the 28 acre field was superior so he told Farm Adviser Trull "I'm just going to combine them all, haul them to the Woodson elevator and let them figure out the yield."

The elevator paid him for 57.9 bushels per acre.

Carl Kreis, Buffalo, Sangamon county, took fourth place with 55.8 bushels. He planted Shelby beans on May 22 in 40-inch rows. He harrowed twice and cultivated once.

Bruce A. Glover, Mt. Erie, Wayne county, placed fifth with 55.6 bushels. This 18-year-old farmer planted Clark 63 beans in 40-inch rows on May 11 following soybeans, used amiben and cultivated twice.

Reiser and Glover also doubled county yields with their records. The Cass county average is 31 bushels per acre; the Wayne county average is 22 bushels.

All drivers, regardless of age, are invited to enroll. The charge will be $1. Applicants need not be associated with Farm Bureau in any way.

Sgt. Jack Ryan of the Illinois State Police force will be the principal instructor. He will be assisted by specialists from County Companies, insurance cooperative affiliated with the I.A.A.

The two day program will utilize movies, visual aids, lectures and discussions to teach "defensive driving." There will be no examination or check of any kind.

The class will be limited to 60 and those interested in attending may register with the Morgan County Farm Bureau office at any time.

"I don't know how many we'll have there Wednesday," John Chambers, organization director, said last week. "We'll have at least one bus, which will leave the Farm Bureau parking lot at 9:15 a.m. and if the reservations keep coming in we'll get another bus."

The bus will stop at the Redwood restaurant, Decatur, for luncheon and will also stop there for supper. Several groups are going by private automobile and plan to meet the bus passengers at the restaurant at approximately 11 a.m.

Reservations on the bus may be made through Monday at the Farm Bureau office.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

with ED GARLICH

THE WRONG "STUFF" IN THE WRONG BAG CAN BE DEADLY TO LIVESTOCK OR PEOPLE!

It happened again! Last spring a certain farmer had some 20% aldrin granules left over when he finished planting corn. He put the granules in an empty salt sack and put the sack in a storage shed with other pesticides.

One evening late in August he asked a high school boy who was working for him to go salt the cattle.

You guessed it! The boy picked up the bag and poured the "salt" which was really aldrin.

A veterinarian was called the next morning. Two of the cattle were dead and 7 were in severe convulsions.

Moral: Never store any farm chemicals in any thing but the original packages. And lock the storeroom they are kept in.

From The Corn Crib! Denver Atty Fred Mazzella... wonders if you have heard about the two martini drinker.

This gentleman came in the same saloon at the same time every night and ordered two martinis, both of which he drank, silently and solemnly. After a time this monotonous practice unnerved the bartender, who inquired into the reason for the ritual.

"My wife and I always had a martini each night before dinner," the customer explained. "Before she died she made me promise to carry on, so I have one for her and one for me."

Tiger

By Rebecca Spradlin

Editor's note: The following poem was written by pet-lover Rebecca Spradlin, grade 6, Franklin. Rebecca's aunt, Mrs. Vernele Bryan, says this is a good description of the cat, and that among their many varied pets was an affectionate goose. (Perhaps Rebecca will write about that pet some day.) A special JUNIOR JOURNALIST pencil and press card are waiting for Rebecca at the newspaper office, and these may also be had by any young reader who has something he has written or drawn (all his own work) printed on the Junior page.

TIGER

"Tiger," our cat seems human can almost talk, Runs in and out between my feet can hardly walk! Sits on our porch step, get so mad at him I could bawl, Wouldn't move a hair, makes me almost fall! I rush out my kitchen door to hang out my clothes, He is all stretched out on the step in a contented restful pose. When we first got him, thought he was "part - pup" We whistled and whistled, always rounded him up! If he doesn't look out, one of these days soon I'll just step on him and mash him the little silly "Goon!" He chases birds and squirrels all around the house, But not once has he caught a single little mouse! He is lazy, no-account, but a dear at that, Wonder why I love that foolish ole cat!"

WINTER!

The leaves do bud and become green; Then down to the ground they fall. What comes after this? Winter! During this time of year, December, January, and February fall. Also down comes the snow, What time of year? Winter! As we all huddle before a roaring fire, While outside snowflakes fall; We all think of one thing, This thing is that it's Winter! It's always cold and freezing; Snow is usually upon the ground; Outside each house a snowman stands. When does this happen? Winter!

Let's Go Birding

Redpolls On Census

By Emma Mae Leonard

On December 26 four members of the Morgan County Audubon Society assisted in the annual Christmas Bird Census in the Springfield area. Two others from Springfield joined the group. These six observers, assigned to the Lake Springfield section, succeeded in locating and identifying 43 species of the 59 species reported from the total group in the field.

Since this is a national census those in the field are always eager to find some unusual birds in the 15-mile area for the winter season. Occasionally a census taker may add a bird to his life list. Our group was extremely fortunate; we found two rare species: the Redpoll and Bonaparte's Gull. Also in each case one observer added a life bird.

Just Hopeful

We who have been on this census for many years always hoped for the Redpoll but were usually disappointed in spite of careful searching. Having seen six Redpolls in a clump of birches along the lake road several years before, we stopped hopefully for a repeat performance — but only hopefully. Almost reverently we crept to the spot, and there in the top of a birch were eight Redpolls feeding upon the catkins of a birch. Soon four more were discovered feeding upon the ground below.

Redpolls resemble winter Goldfinches and Siskins in size and shape; but they have two distinguishing marks: a little poppy-red forehead and a dusky or black chin. This little red marking is as difficult to see as that on the Ruby-crowned Kinglet of the ruby-red throat on our hummingbird. With patience we found the tiny red cap on some of the birds and were sure of our identification.

Real Beauty

There was, however, one beautiful Redpoll that must have won the beauty contest among his kind. He had all of the Redpoll winning marks: the poppy-red forehead, the little black chin, and the dawn-pink breast. In spite of his beauty he was in no way egotistical. In fact, he behaved just like the other eleven companions.

They were unsuspicious of us six gazers with the big black objects, our binoculars, moving before our eyes. They moved confidently, slowly, and quietly from branch to branch and into another birch nearer us, all the while eating daintily of the catkin seeds. These little, streaked, gray-brown birds seem to be so much a part of birch trees that only careful observation runs them down. We had used that method and been successful.

Finally we had to tear ourselves from this unusual picture of bird life to find and count other species. Upon our return we saw the same dozen Redpolls feeding in the same way upon the same birches. One of the six census takers was so entranced that he chose to remain for continual observation while we five went to dine upon cheeseburgers and hashed brown potatoes.

When we returned for the lone gazer, we learned that the Redpolls had been gone for a half hour. Oh yes, don't feel sorry for this lone gazer; he had really benefited from the thorough study, and he had a cold hamburger for lunch.

VACATION

During Christmas Vacation I had some fun. I got what I wanted and that was a gun. Another thing I got was a chemistry set. Did I have fun? You Bet! Also received a Boy Scout Vitt-L-Kit. I can hardly wait to use it. I got what I wanted most and that was a Secret Sam. You will never know how happy I am!

NO SNOW

Nice warm winter weather. What? No snow! Seems warm enough for the grass to grow. You can play outside without a coat, and take a ride in a boat. We had some snow on Christmas day. But the sun came out and it soon went away. It does not seem like winter without snow. But when it will come we do not know.

THREE GEMINI SUITS

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Each Gemini astronaut has three space suits, all tailor made for him, including boots, gloves and helmets. Each suit costs about $27,000, and with helmet, boots and gloves weighs around 30 pounds.

The Gemini space suit is made of four layers of nylon fitting loosely inside one another. The layers are fastened together only around the neck, the connection for oxygen hoses and medical instrument wires, and the boots in the earlier models.

The shiny silver or white outside layer of the suit is made of high temperature resistant nylon. Beneath this layer is the woven nylon net restraint garment. Without this second layer the space suit would become a man - shaped balloon. The restraint garment has accordion pleats at all the joints allowing the astronaut to move even when the suit is inflated. The third layer is treated with rubber to make it almost airtight. The inner layer is made of soft nylon for comfort.

Air inlet and outlets for the Gemini space suits are connected to the torso at waist level. A nearly 100 percent breathable oxygen system is provided to the suit from storage bottles. Scientists are considering adding helium to space suits and space craft atmospheres for longer flights. They fear that pure oxygen may be harmful if breathed for too long. However, as the flight of Gemini 7 has shown it works fine for a quick trip to the moon.

Gloves Attached The gloves are attached to spacesuits at the wrist with couplings that can be quickly disconnected. Two small fingertip flashlights are mounted on the finger tips to aid the astronaut in reading spacecraft instruments at night.

The helmets on the spacesuits each have a built in drinking port so that the astronaut can get a drink from his water gun, as shown in the picture without opening the visor. The helmet provides visibility, comfort, and windblast protection. It contains the astronaut's earphones and microphone.

Danny's Big Secret

By John Rankin

None but the very young could grasp the feeling of disappointment and frustration gripping 10-year-old Danny as he stood at the kitchen window and watched Mr. Roberts' car as it cruised down the long, winding road and finally passed from view around a bend in the river.

It was early morning, but the beauty and charm of bright sunlight glittering over the valley and in the ice-capped mountain peaks added little in the way of solace to the frail and undersized youngster.

And as he continued to stare dreamily out into space Danny's thoughts turned to the events leading up to his present sad state of affairs. Only a few days ago Mr. Roberts, his history teacher, had made known his plan to explore Jungle Island in search of an ancient cave believed lost somewhere in the vast wilderness of the almost forgotten area.

But instead of taking me and one of the other guys from his own school he picks my big brother and Mel Briggs from Junior High to make the trip with him. Danny recalled with a grimace. Then with a fretful shrug of his trail shoulders he turned from the window and ran upstairs to his room and threw himself across the bed.

Mom came in a little later and sat on the side of the bed.

MOVING DAY

On my Christmas vacation We decided to vacate. On December 28th I got up at eight.

On a sunny morn With a fret and a scorn A big loader on the tractor Was the main factor

Mom said don't belate We had to meet a date Mom cooked and baked So I wouldn't get a headache.

We loaded the car As we didn't have to move far We have pond Of which I am very fond.

I moved the dogs last In the pond they swim fast On my vacation I had fun As I like to work, play and run.

Keith Short Grade Six Washington School Mrs. Stewart

IT'S FUN

Winter is cold. With snow and ice. But children don't mind— To them it's nice. There's sledding on hills. And snowball fights. And Christmas trees With pretty lights. The wind blows hard. The snow hardly shines. Snow falls endlessly; Covering the pines. Carolers sing. With very gay cheer. And Turkey dinner. For the New Year.

Soon winter will end. And spring will begin. But too, too, soon, Winter will come again.

David Coultas 6th grade Washington School Mrs. Stewart

"You shouldn't feel so badly about it, dear," she said in soothing tones. "Jungle Island is pretty rugged country and could be dangerous. That's why Mr. Roberts wanted some larger and stronger boys to make the trip with him."

Too Little Danny threw himself to a sitting position on the side of the bed and let his feet dangle over the side.

"Ah, gee whiz! Folks are always telling me I'm too little," he fumed. "And my big brother Bob and Mel Briggs even called me a punk kid—and said if I went along I'd get lost in a groundhog hole or something."

Mom gave him a passive smile. "The boys were only teasing you, dear. But Mr. Roberts says it will be a long, hard trip and, since nobody knows the exact location of the island they'll have to cruise up and down the river until they find it—if indeed they can find it at all."

Danny's eyes sparkled with excitement as he got up and squared his trail shoulders with an air of importance. "I can find the island and go right to the lost cave — and I won't need a boat either," he declared. "That's what I tried to tell Mr. Roberts, but he just looked at me like I was crazy or something and said I'd been watching television too much."

"And I think you've been listening too much to those older men that hang out at the crossroads store," Mom said with a tolerant smile. Then giving him a playful peck on the cheek she got up and left the room.

WINDY DAYS

Winter has come at last Autumn has gone past Cold north winds howl No more do I here the hooting of the owl.

White snow flakes falling on the ground Snow flakes not making a sound Snow is covering the trees Every thing is white as far as I can see.

Little children laughing and playing On the hills they are sleighing Some are having snowball fights Mother said that isn't right.

You can hear the chime of the bells They are playing very well Little children every where Hear musical chimes ring through the air.

It feels so nice and cozy When we come in with cheeks so rosy We sit down by the fireplace And warm our hands and faces.

Pam Strickler Mrs. Stewart 6th Washington School

There are more than 28 million Americans now enrolled in adult education courses. Dr. Paul A. Miller, president of West Virginia University, reported at the first national conference on adult education, held in New York City.

Prayer Poem

God's Power

By Mary Pence Claywell

I love the clouds up in the sky. The little ones that just float by. The darker ones that hide the blue. And rumble ... as they're passing through; Oh yes, I fear the winds they bring.

The lightning flashes, with their sting. The cyclone funnel, as it dips

And sucks up things ... in front of it; But somehow ... maybe this is why.

I love the clouds ... up in the sky Within the clouds that float and drift.

I see the little lambllets skip And breezes, like small children sing. Within the Shelter ... of His Wing.

And in the ones that carry stings And up-end strong and powerful things. I see a Hand that stops at will. Their wild havoc ... with "Peace be still."

I know now, when I see a cloud, The dark ones with their thunder loud, The fluffy, white ones mixed with blue.

Why I am fascinated ... Too. And seldom panic, in that hour, For I see only, Lord, Thy Power;

And since Thou canst control the storm. I know You'll keep ... Your child from harm!

WINTER BEAUTY

The frost will come tonight. It will be quite a sight. And we should all know The winter snow will blow.

The mountains are with a crest. The trees are also all dressed. And we should all know The winter snow will blow.

Each flake has been arranged. Even though it may seem strange. And we should all know The winter snow will blow.

The plants have died away Costing us great dismay. And we should all know The winter snow soon will blow.

A Family YMCA For Jacksonville

COMING HERE

WITH YOUR HELP

Sherwood Eddy Memorial YMCA

DESIGNED WITH THE FAMILY IN MIND

The new concept of the YMCA will enlarge existing programs and afford ample space for new facilities and activities.

An attractive two story, split level building will have approximately 28,000 square feet of floor space, planned for maximum supervision from minimum help throughout. It will be situated on a 31 acre tract of land located on the west side of Jacksonville, one block south of Mound Avenue, and one block north of Morton Road.

It is a rolling, wooded hillside that will be most attractive when landscaped, and will provide ample space for a varied out-of-doors program, to include picnicking and camping areas, athletic fields, tennis courts and large parking lots.

42 x 75 INDOOR-OUTDOOR POOL – This is made possible by the use of glass doors and translucent plastic panels on the wall. This will make a bright attractive pool, ideal for splash parties, family swims. A spacious patio completes the outdoor effect of the pool. It will be "in" for sunbathing, informal games, family barbecues.

70 x 100 GYMNASIUM – Large enough for an official high school basketball event, the all purpose floor will allow use for games on family nights, teen parties, catered parties, as well as usual gym activities.

SHOWERS AND LOCKER ROOMS – There will be large locker rooms and showers for both men and women. They will be located to give easy access to both the swimming pool and gym.

BODY BUILDING ROOM – One of the most popular activities for young men is body building, exercising with weights. A special room will be equipped for this purpose. Also planned is a health club.

SNACK BAR AND RECREATION LOUNGE – The snack bar will be adjacent to the recreation lounge. The lounge will be equipped with pool tables, ping pong, stereo booths.

CLUB AND HOBBY ROOMS – Each club organization should have a room of its own, decorated with its symbols, with cabinets for its supplies. Hobby groups will have space where they can work undisturbed and their materials and supplies will not be open.

MEETING AND ACTIVITY ROOM – A large room seating more than 100 persons can be partitioned into two rooms of equal size. This room will be used for joint meetings of clubs, inductions and other activities, such as weekly bridge meetings.

Wesley Chapel Sanctuary Being Remodeled

Remodeling work, currently in progress at Wesley Chapel Methodist church, is expected to be completed about March 15.

The church sanctuary is being repainted in antique white and fawn and will be equipped with new unicurve oak pews. Wall-to-wall carpeting will cover the entire sanctuary, including the chancel area and choir loft.

Reverend A. W. Mathias, pastor of the church, reports that the chancel area will be accented by a maroon dossal with a large oval picture of Christ at Hopedale, Ill.

The present communion rail is being replaced and will match other church furnishings. A new oak choir screen will replace the velvet drapes formerly used in the choir area. The foyer of the church is also being improved.

As the work continues, services are being held in the church's education building.

A PATRIOT Of 1831

Last week this column dealt with page 1 and 2 of the Illinois Patriot of Oct. 21, 1831, the oldest known issue of a newspaper printed in Jacksonville, which was sent to us via the kindness of Mrs. W. P. Spillman of Portland, Ore.

This week let's look at pages 3 and 4.

Items clipped from such strong Whig newspapers as the Raleigh, N.C. Advertiser, Missouri Republican, Nashville, Ky., Herald, Boston Advertiser and New York Advertiser, along with a column and a half of advertising filled page 3.

With one exception. There was a notice that "Mr. John Pickering was married to Miss Sarah Wheeler in Exeter, Ill., on the 18th inst. by the Rev. John Brich."

Rev. Brich was among the first, and may be the first, Presbyterian missionary to come to the Jacksonville. He was a Jacksonville. He was a victim of "The Big Freeze" which struck Illinois Dec. 20, 1836. Both he and his horse froze to death in Henry county, near the Rock Island county line. The Rock Island coroner got there first and claimed the body, along with about $3,000 in cash and several land deeds found in one of his saddlebags. Two of the deeds were for farms located east and north of Jacksonville, for Brich was a very astute businessman as well as a servant of the Lord.

The estate added up to more than $30,000. As soon as the Henry county courthouse boys heard about all that gelt, they immediately tried to get it back, because Rev. Brich died in their country. This bickering, in and out of court, went on for several years but the Rock Island boys won in the end because they had both the body and the documents.

"An Elegant Farm"
Francis Arenz, the university trained German gentleman who founded the town of Arenzville, had an ad in the paper. He wanted to sell "an elegant farm, situated on the state road from Beardstown to Springfield, 15 miles from the Illinois river, containing 160 acres of first rate land, about one-half of which is well timbered, and 60 acres under cultivation, with good improvements. Near the house are two never-falling springs. Few farms in the country are as well situated for a Stock farm, a Tavern stand, or for Mercantile business, as the above place."

It is a safe bet that those "two never-falling springs" dried up years ago.

In a legal notice, John Allen and Jane Roodhouse, administrators of the estate of the late Benjamin Roodhouse, of Greene county, notified all creditors that they must present their claims within nine months. And Joseph Gailbreath, postmaster at Exeter listed 22 unclaimed letters he had in his office and said if they weren't called for "they will be sent to the Dead Letter Office."

Advertisements, all of them interesting, made up page 4. One column listed over 200 unclaimed letters at the Jacksonville postoffice. Postmaster Dennis Rockwell warned, "if not taken out within three months, will be sent to the General Post Office as Dead Letters. Persons calling for the above Letters will please say they are advertised, or they may not get them."

W. Ross, clerk of the county court of Pike county, had in more than a column of legal notices. This indicates there was no newspaper printed in that county — big as it was — at the time.

James D. Henry, sheriff of Sangamon county, advertised that he had a "Runaway Slave" on his hands and wished the owner would "prove his property." The Negro went by the name of Luke Mayberry, the sheriff said.

"He says he is 52 or 62 years old — he does not know which. I think he is not more than 52, if that. He is five foot, five and a half or six inches high, well set, and nearly all his hair is white, both above and below. He is out. Had on an old jacket, woolen pantaloons, much worn shoes, without socks. He converses freely, with boldness." Sheriff Henry observed.

School For Girls
Another advertisement noted that Mrs. Ellis' School for young ladies would open on Monday next. Terms per quarter ranging from $4.00 to $2.50, "with free access to an excellent library." Boarding was $1.00 per week and washing 25c per week. "French is spoke in the family," the advertisement concluded.

This is hardly surprising since Mrs. John Ellis was of high-born French descent. She was living in Kaskaskia when Ellis, the Presbyterian missionary, visited the state capital and

MR. JAMES ROBINSON AND THE NEW YORK CIRCUS — New York has had, within the past few months, a sensation of no common kind, in the person of a rider, Mr. James Robinson, who has given some examples in that line that rather startle the professors of the ring themselves.

Mr. Robinson came almost unannounced to this city, but three nights had not passed when it was seen that a talent, such as had never before been witnessed in this locality, was before us. The perfect mastery of the horse, the abandon of the rider, the grace and dash, marked the perfect chief of his art. We feel that all attempts at description is vain, and that the rider must be there counted her and won her.

Her school was the beginning of the Jacksonville Female Academy, which was organized in 1836. She didn't get to see this fruiting of her labors, however, as she and her two children and her niece all died in the ghastly cholera epidemic that struck here in the early summer of 1833.

Messrs. Ament & McKee, Jacksonville cabinet makers wanted to employ "three or four journeymen," promising "constant employment and good wages."

The firm also wanted "two apprentices for the above business." Evidently they hoped there were some surplus cabinetmakers around Louisville, for in the advertisement they postscripted: "The Louisville Advertiser will please insert the above three times, and forward the account to this office for payment."

The balance of the page was taken by wholesale merchants in St. Louis, Alton and Beardstown.

Everything For Sale
Knapp & Pogue, of Beardstown, Morgan County, Ill., had almost everything for sale — dry goods, groceries, shoes, hardware, tools, &c., &c. Special and newly-arrived articles included 10 tons of Swedish bar iron, 5 tons Boston nails, from 1/2¢ to 40¢ per penny spike, Pittsburgh window glass, 400 barrels of Kenhaws salt and 100 barrels "old whiskey and brandy, of various qualities, by the barrel or otherwise."

The firm offered cash or goods for wheat, hogs, corn, hemp, butter, cheese, pork, beef, rye, barrel staves, hoop poles, whisky, deer skins, dry hides, beeswax, honey, tallow "or almost any other article produced by the Husbandman or Mechanic in the Western world."

The Alton State Prison
The final advertisement was a proclamation signed by Governor John Reynolds announcing the new state penitentiary in Alton was ready to receive prisoners and that from now on the state would not pay board to counties for holding state prisoners.

A study of the history of the Alton penitentiary provides a very interesting insight into the lives and the morals of perennial do-gooders and bleeding hearts. They haven't changed a bit.

By 1850 these hair-brained characters were feeling very sorry for "the poor convicts who were living in a place not fit for a hog."

The latter expression, of course, was consistent with their mental capacity, for a hog is among the cleanest of all animals if given a chance, as you may see if you wish to visit one of our many fine confinement-feeding pork production plants today.

But the bleeding hearts cried and wept and beat their breasts and the bushes and marched on the Illinois assembly until they got a bill through to build a new penitentiary in Joliet.

By pure accident of course the location happened to belong to a prime leader of the clan, who was willing to let it go — at a price — for the good of all. He said he was going to use the money to build an orphanage, but there is no history of an orphanage but there are the probate records to show the old scoundrel left a most hefty wad of money to his three sons. One of them followed the line of his ancestor and did very well; the other two turned to drink. One of them died in the Illinois Central Asylum in Jacksonville and the other got the DT's and drowned in the Fox river.

In 1866 the general contractor for the new prison in Joliet testified that he had "to kick back" to several of the project spies to be understood. All positions on the horse are alike to him. He stands either upon his head or feet, he repudiates bridle or band, taking his stand barebacked and flying.

Our illustration represents him in one of the favorite parts of his act, called "The Steeple Chase." In it he stands exactly as represented in the engraving, while the horse makes a flying leap over a four foot high fence. We give this as one of the wonderful things he does, without being altogether sure that it is the most wonderful. In fact, Mr. Robinson has so overturned our old ideas of riding, that we feel an inability to describe him.

—Frank Leslie's Newspaper.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal: ENLARGEMENT AND IMPROVEMENT — We learn that Mr. Joseph Capps & Sons, in association with Mr. Alexander McDonald, propose to double the woolen manufactory here, with a total outlay of at least ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The building will be 48 by 180 feet on the foundation, and three stories high, with a handsome tower in the centre. It will enable the firm to run forty additional looms and turn out FIVE THOUSAND YARDS OF CLOTH PER WEEK, with a like proportion of yarns.

HORSE AND BUGGY STOLEN — A man calling himself Dr. Baughman, who served four years with the 34th Regt. Ill. Vols., hired a valuable horse and buggy of Major J. T. Newman, last week, to go to a wedding some distance in the country and has not returned, but evidently has stolen the property. Major Newman has advertised him, offering a reward of one hundred and fifty dollars for the recovery of the horse and buggy, or a liberal reward for reliable information on either horse and buggy, or of the thief.

JOHN G. SAXE — This gentleman, the "witty poet" in America, is to lecture before the Sigma Pi Society of Illinois College at Strawn's Hall on tomorrow evening, on "Poets and Poetry." We have no doubt but that he will give us one of the richest treats ever offered to a Jacksonville audience and we hope to see a full house.

THE BIBLE PANORAMA — We are glad, for the credit of our city, that the admirable painting which has been on exhibition in Strawn's Hall met with the reception due its merits as a panorama of sacred history. On Saturday afternoon nearly a thousand children visited the exhibition, some two hundred in a body coming from the Deaf and Dumb Institution.

A BIG FARM — We see a statement going the rounds of the press to the effect that there is a large farm in Champaign county, owned by J. T. Alexander, of Morgan county.

It consists of 80,000 acres, and not an acre of waste or poor land on the whole premises. This year he had 18,000 acres of corn, 15,000 head of hogs and 32,000 head of cattle feeding in his pastures. He made $175,000 last year on his stock alone.

We are not certain, but we think these figures are too large.

sponsors, but nothing came of this and it was soon forgotten.

But to continue. The Joliet prison was completed late in 1860 and the transfer of prisoners was completed early the next year.

Then came the Civil war. The do-gooders of the day were all abolitionists; most of them were prohibitionists and in general they had all the stability of a whirlwind.

O.K. For Rebels
But the Alton prison, which wasn't good enough for 700 felons, all at once became good enough to confine 2,000 Confederate prisoners. Which was sanctioned wholeheartedly by the bleeding hearts.

Yep, the breed hasn't changed any. And they never had it so good as today. They weep and cry for the "unprivileged" and the "disadvantaged," but they don't let their tears blind them so much that they can't find the trough and get their foot in it.

HUMOR

January, 1866
A country paper once said: "E. B. Doolittle is in the habit of stealing pigs and robbing hen-roosts. If he does not desist, we will publish his name." That is equal to the deacon at a camp meeting, who said: "If the lady with the blue hat, red hair, and crosseyes, doesn't stop talking, she will be pointed out to the congregation."

"Well, Mr. Tree, if you're about to leave I shall detain your trunk," exclaimed an incensed landlady to her lodger, who was slightly in arrears.

The feast of imagination is described as follows: "When your stomach is empty and your pocket ditto, sit down and read a cookery-book."

Mrs. Parthington says that like, having become enameled of a siren of Boston, has led her to the mental altar. He didn't appear the least bit decomposed. On the back of his wedding cards were little cubes with wings.

Different sounds travel with different degrees of velocity. A call to dinner will run over a ten-acre field in seconds, while a summons to work will take from five to ten minutes.

DOMESTIC

January, 1866

A Bill is pending in Congress to amend the naturalization laws, by striking out the words, "free white," where they occur, so as to make all persons, except Indians, capable of being naturalized, and becoming citizens.

The articles of incorporation of a new railroad company called the "LaCrescent, Rochester and Yankton Railroad Company," has been filed with the Minnesota Secretary of State. The object is to construct a railroad from the Mississippi river through the southern tier of Minnesota counties to the Missouri river. The capital is $10,000,000.

The new United States Telegraph line, west of Chicago, on the Pacific route, is a perfect success. Offices are now opened at Clinton, Cedar Rapids and Booneville, Iowa. The office at Omaha will be opened in a few days, when the intermediate stations, some ten or twelve in number, will be opened without delay.

Capt. Henry A. Stoltz, of the 2d Illinois cavalry, was brutally murdered near Springfield, Ill., on the 19th inst. He was stabbed in seven places and received five wounds from balls, two of which passed through his body. The object of the murder was no doubt robbery, as the pockets of the deceased were rifled of their contents, including as is supposed, about $600.

The commercial travelers of Chicago have organized themselves into a society under the name of "The Commercial Travelers' Association for Mutual Protection." The following are among the objects stated at the Preliminary meeting: To compel hotel-keepers to give them clean beds, clean towels, and good substantial food, and also sample rooms for the display of their goods; and, in turn, they pledge themselves, as a body, to support and patronize such landlords alone.

The water drinkers of Chicago are disgusted by the invasion of myriads of little fishes in the water-pipes. Tons of them are collected about the inlet, and cannot be driven away. At times they are drawn by the pumps in such masses against the screens that the supply of water is stopped, when it becomes necessary to hoist the screens, and the minnows rush in by the barrel full.

—Frank Leslie's Newspaper, 1866

Boating enthusiasts used an estimated 4,530,000 outboard boats for their pleasure sailing during 1965.

WHY IS OUR TOP SO WAY OUT?

The top of the Volkswagen Convertible is way out of the car for a very simple reason: We had no other practical place to put it.

Of course, we had other alternatives. We could have put the top in the back seat. (It wouldn't have been out of the car, but 2 or 3 people would have been.)

Or we could have made room for the top by making the bug a little longer. (But it would no longer have been the little bug.)

The way it worked out, our Convertible has all the practical benefits of our Sedan: Seating for 4 adults, parking ease, and economy (average 29 mpg; 40,000 miles on tires).

But many people don't need practical benefits. They simply like our top.

They like it because it has a real glass window in back. And because it's padded, and fitted by hand, so it's weatherproof and it actually cushions sound.

They like our top when it's up for its smooth custom-made look. And they like it when it's down for its unusual way-out look.

To many people our top is so way-out, it's in.

Porta Cops PMSC Crown 41-34; Quincy Nips JHS

Comets Grab Third On Gurnsey Bucket

By BUFORD GREEN

A powerful Petersburg Porta club roared back on the shooting of Vernie Ames in the final eight minutes and broke Virginia's slow-down tactics for a 41-34 triumph and their first PMSC conference tournament title before a standing room only crowd at the ISD gymnasium Friday night.

Wayne Gurnsey's bucket with two seconds left pushed Chanderville to a slim 64-62 count over Triopia in the consolation game for third place.

Porta's hot-shooting team came from four points down in the fourth period and took new life on Ames' three buckets from the corner, one putting the winning Bluejays ahead and the final one insuring the victory.

Virginia's strategy to move the ball around the outside, sometimes going for as long as two minutes without a shot, worked for three quarters just as it did in the Redbirds' upset win over Chanderville in the semi-finals Thursday night.

Four costly ball-loss mistakes by Virginia against the pressing Bluejays in the closing minutes spelled the Redbirds' doom. Twice, down by only one point, Virginia threw the ball away allowing Porta to up the lead to three to force the slower Redbirds to come out of their slow game and chase the Bluejays.

the last chapter.

Birds Lead By Four Bill Middleton tipped for two to open the final stanza to put Virginia on top by four before Porta took command for the final time. Ames hit twice from the corner and Erickson canned a short jumper to wipe out the lead and give Porta the front at 32-30 with 4:46 to play.

Middleton tied the game for Virginia again with 4:30 left, but a free toss by Alan Thomas and a 20-footer by Erickson gave Porta a three-point edge.

Middleton brought Virginia within one for the last time with 2:40 left before David Gum ripped the nets from the deep corner and Ames iced it with a fast break layup all alone with only :43 remaining.

First Game A Thriller The first game of the evening was just as close as the finale, with Gurnsey's game-winning bucket wiping out a last-ditch two-pointer by Triopia's Harlan Fricke.

Fricke's bucket with ten seconds left in the game capped an almost game-long comeback effort by Triopia after Chanderville threatened to blow the Trojans off the floor in the opening eight minutes.

Down by 13 points at the end of the first round, Triopia steadily pumped away at the deficit, finally catching up in the last ten seconds.

Chanderville's star forward Carroll Logue put on the best offensive show of the tournament, pumping in 28 points for the evening.

Three straight missed charity throws by Chanderville in the final minute allowed Triopia to get back in the game. Triopia's Jim Morrison, a clutch performer in all three Trojan games in the week-long affair, canned two from the 15-foot stripe to bring Triopia within two at 62-60 with 1:20 to play.

After the Comets' Delbert Force missed both free throw chances with :44 remaining, Triopia got the ball and set up the play from which Fricke hit from 12-feet out on the side with ten seconds left.

Chanderville got the ball with :02 left and Gurnsey drove down the middle of the lane to hit a leaping jumper from ten feet out just as the clock ticked off the next to last second.

The red-hot shooting of Logue and Dean Eilers shot Chanderville into a commanding 23-10 first quarter spread as Triopia had trouble hitting the bucket and handling the Comets' full court press. The Chanderville fast break continually broke the Triopia defense as Logue and Eilers cashed in.

Trojans Get Rolling Morrison, Jim Paul and Fricke got Triopia back on the right track in the second quarter, as the Trojans steadily chipped away at the deficit and got within 38-29 at intermission. Logue threw in 18 points in the half.

The trend remained the same in the third quarter as Bill Meier got loose underneath for 11 points in the period and Triopia cut the gap to three, 50-47 at :20 left in the frame. A late bucket by Force upped the Comet lead to 52-47 entering the final eight minutes.

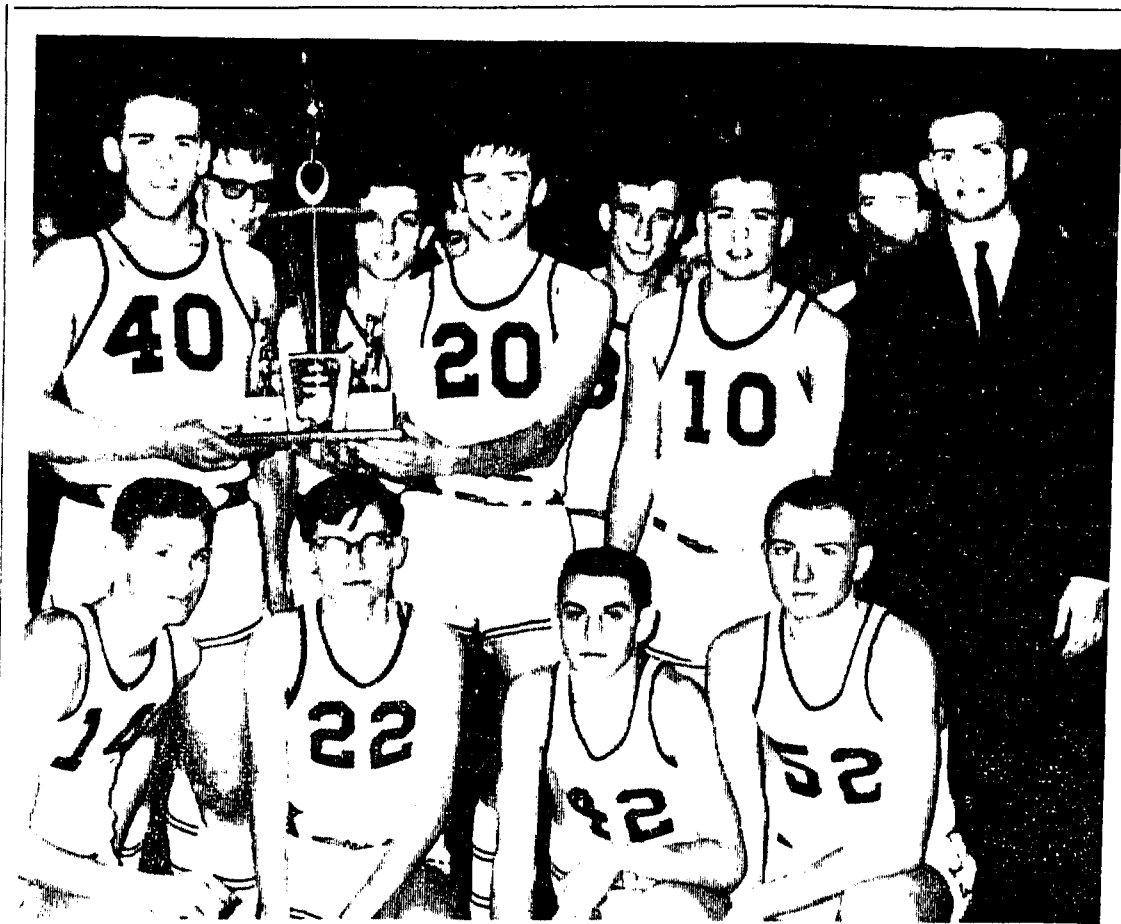

Meier and Fricke combined for five points early in the fourth frame, while Logue and Force kept Chanderville on top. A pair of clutch ten-footers by Triopia's Jim Kleinschmidt brought the Trojans to within 60-58 with 2:20 to play.

The difference in the final outcome was established in the Comets' shooting field, 48% to Triopia's 33% clip. Triopia gained much of the difference back at the foul stripe where they hit on 20 of 27 tries.

Brown County Cops Winchester Title

By TERRY SHAW

WINCHESTER — Brown County had to fight and scramble all the way to take the championship game of the Winchester Tournament by the score of 49-44, here Friday night.

In the consolation game the host Winchester squad came from 15 points down at the half to go ahead in the third quarter only to lose to Griggsville 62-78 as four Winchester starters went to the bench with five fouls.

Terry Pool, the 6'4" Brown County center, and the cold shooting of the Carrollton ball club were the decisive factors in the title game.

Swapping basket for basket throughout the first period, the Brown County and Carrollton squads had identical totals of 12-12 at the end of the first eight minutes.

Carrollton brought out their press with the beginning of the second period and caused two miscues by the Hornets from Brown County but Carrollton was unable to capitalize on them.

With slightly over a minute gone in the second frame, a Brown County defender hacked Pool as he sank a short jumper.

er. Pool collected his free throw and put the Green Hornets ahead 15-12.

Carrollton took the ball downcourt, shot, and Pool picked off a rebound. The Hornets freed forward Ned Webber behind a screen in the corner and he went up in the air to hit for two from twenty feet.

The Carrollton Hawks picked up two baskets in a row on a fast break layup by Dan Howard and another fast break coming on a stolen Hornet pass by Mike Brannan, the high man for the night with 17.

Brown County came back with a basket by Eric Bryant and the Hawks and the Hornets traded free throws to put the boys from Brown County ahead by three, 20-17.

The Hornets then connected on a pair of field goals and a free throw while Carrollton picked up a single field goal and a free throw to give Brown County a half time lead of 25-20.

Hornets Pull Away Using a 1-3-1 offense against the 1-3-1 defense of Carrollton, Brown County put Pool, their high man for the night with 15, at the high post and proceeded to out score the Hawks 11-8 for the third frame to run the total score to 36-28.

Brown County opened the fourth quarter with a free throw, and then were unable to score as Carrollton ran eight points in a row to close on Brown County 37-36.

Tom Alsup then hit two from the side and Pool swished a jumper from the free throw line to put the Hornets out in front by five with 3:37 to play.

The two clubs traded basket for basket for the remainder of the game with Brown County winning by five, 49-44.

locker room at the beginning of the third quarter ready to play ball and did just that behind the hot shooting and tough work under the boards by Buddy Parker and Rex Brockhouse. With just under two and a half minutes remaining in the third quarter, Winchester center Mike Thomas came up out of the pack at the dotted line to pop one and send the Wildcats ahead by one, 53-52.

Griggsville pulled back into the lead on three quick baskets by Phil Hannant, the high man for the night with 28.

Winchester fought hard to the finish, but was crippled by four starters going out on fouls including Parker who collected 20 points in the losing cause.

Runkle And Clough Pace 72-60 IC Edge

By Butch Bending Illinois College defeated the Principia Indians Friday night behind the rugged rebounding and scoring of Paul Runkle and Dick Clough, who combined for 33 points and 22 rebounds, to pull the Blueboys to a 72-60 victory, in a Prairie College Conference game.

The Big Blue were never behind in the contest from the opening tip and pulled away to a nine point advantage in the first six minutes behind the scoring punch of Greer and Runkle, who scored the first ten points for Illinois College. Farley Helms kept the Indians close in the opening minutes with eight of his ten points in the first eight minutes of the ball game.

With 10:20 remaining in the first half Principia came as close as they would for the rest of the game when they closed the score to 25-20 behind a pair of baskets by Buz Brewster. But this was short lived, as Runkle put in two free throws to keep the pressure off the Blueboys.

The big edge that Illinois College had in the first half was their free throw shooting. They managed only one more field goal more than Prin, 12-11, but put in thirteen charity tosses to only three for the losers, to maintain a 38-25 halftime advantage.

The Indians managed to narrow the score to 43-35 after five minutes of the final half, however were thwarted by their own miscues. They fouled continually while applying the full court press that they used throughout the entire game. The Blueboys, taking advantage of the free throws and their rebounding skill, managed to control the game at their will.

Brewster kept Prin from being run off the court with his tremendous second half performance, during which he scored 20 points, mostly with jump shots ranging from twenty feet outward. Brewster led all scorers with 24 points, coming pull the Blueboys to a 72-60 victory, in a Prairie College Conference game.

Illinois College kept the ball game in control throughout the final five minutes with the fine ball handling of Max Greer and Pete Gallatin, who continually dribbled through the Prin press. Gallatin, in addition, added six of the last nine points with his fine outburst by Gallatin, the Hilltoppers led 63-52, with the final count being 72-60.

Clough led all the scorers for the Blueboys with 17 points, followed closely by Runkle who added 16. In addition to Brewster for Principia Farley Helms added 11 points for the Indians.

IC managed to hit only 31% of its shots to 37% for Prin, but outscored them 48-25.

Eight Crimson matmen gained triumphs Friday afternoon as the JHS wrestling squad marched to an easy 26-14 win over Springfield at the JHS bowl.

Jacksonville's 127 pounder Chip Sutphen captured the local's only fall during the action, pinning Jim Ozier in 4:52, while Springfield heavyweight Bob Kelly downed Wayne Fanning of Jacksonville in 3:07.

The triumph boosts the Crimson's to a lofty 8-2-1 record for the year.

Crimsons' Upset Bid Falls Short

QUINCY — A two-man offensive and defensive performance in the third period powered the Quincy Blue Devils to a 68-60 triumph over the Jacksonville Crimson's, here Friday night, as the victors moved quickly from a slim 33-31 halftime spread to a comfortable third stop margin, and held on for their thirteenth victory of the season.

Guard Marvin Sprague and center Bill Gay, who ran the Blue Devils' spree, dropped in all 15 of the locals' tallies during the decisive quarter, while leading a damaging full-court press, to leave the Crimson's on the short end of an insurmountable 48-39 count with eight minutes remaining.

Gay collected eight of his game high of 25 in the burst, while Sprague fired-in seven.

After tying the contest at 33-33 on an initial second half bucket by Ron Coleman, the Crimson's were unable to penetrate the Quincy defense and managed only one other field goal during the remainder of the frame to accept the nine point deficit.

Fourth quarter surges moved the Crimson's within seven points on two occasions, but late charity stripe conversions continually moved the tally out of reach.

Although dwarfed by the 6'2 1/2" Quincy squad, the Crimson's held their own on the boards throughout the night, as Coleman continually out jumped the 6'4" Gay.

Gay, however, had an easier time of it in the closing minutes, as Coleman, a 16-point contributor for the night, fouled-out with 4:40 remaining in the contest.

Junior guard Duane Hess, who netted 20 for the Jacksonville, sparked the Crimson's early effort by hitting five straight from the field, as the squad netted nine of 12 attempts during the first period.

Sprague and Gay countered with eight each during the sea-saw quarter, however, to make the count 19-19 after the initial eight minutes of play.

After giving-up the first bucket of the second period, the Crimson's went to a quick two-point advantage, as Gary Ginder and Coleman ripped-in a pair of markers from the inside.

Pressing the visitors into three straight turnovers, however, Quincy soon marched to a four point spread, and increased it to six at 31-25 after a pair of free throws by Rich Coble had cut the lead in half.

Two more Jacksonville outside buckets, managed by guard Abe Brown and Coleman, and a pair of foul shots by Hess, closed the spread to two, however, as the Jacks concluded the half on the low side of a 33-31 tally.

Four charity stripe conversions and a pair of buckets by the now 'foul contained' Coleman were all the Crimson's could produce during the fatal third round, as the Blue Devils rolled-up a 15-8 domination to take a 48-39 advantage into the final quarter.

Jacksonville reservist Robin Manker lifted the Crimson's hopes during the final frame, coming off the bench to total nine points, and aided the Coleman.

Rushville Raps Havana By 75-51

RUSHVILLE — Rushville established command in the second quarter and went on to handily whip Havana, 75-51, in a foul-infested Spoon River conference tilt here Friday night.

Down by 18-17 after eight minutes, Rushville roared back to lead 35-27 at halftime. A 19-9 third-quarter difference settled the issue.

The winning Rockets hit 29 of 49 free tosses, to Havana's 25 of 49, as 63 fouls were whistled in the contest, 32 on the hosts.

Rodney Ball and Mick Lunt combined for 36 of the winners' points, while John Brown led the losers with 12 points.

Rushville is now 6-9 on the season while Havana dropped to 5-10.

The efforts fell short, however, as a late Quincy stall forced the Crimson's to tighten their defense, with subsequent fouls resulting.

Wolves Triumph In 2 Overtimes Behind Mooney

PLEASANT HILL — Two long range jumpers by Larry Mooney edged the Pleasant Hill Wolves into a second overtime, and into the winners' circle here Friday night, as the locals came out on top of a 48-46 double overtime thriller over Clopton, Missouri in non-conference action.

Mooney hit on a 25 footer to tie the contest at 46-46 with :04 remaining in the first overtime, and finally put the victory into the Wolves' fold with a 30 foot jumper at :05 of the second extra period action.

Mooney's heroics followed Clopton center Bill Raspberry's tip in bucket which came with :01 to go in the regulation time period, to tie the score at 42-42.

Pleasant Hill grabbed an early 10-5 margin after the first period and increased it to 19-13 at the half, before the Clopton outfit moved to a 31-30 lead at the third quarter stop.

Mooney, who collected all six Pleasant Hill tallies in the overtime periods rated as high scorer in the contest with 16, while teammates Charlie Skirvin and Keith Johnson netted 14 and 13 respectively.

The win leaves Pleasant Hill with a lofty 12-1 record on the year.

The difference in the game was Porta's hot 48% shooting clip from the floor, as Virginia hit only 34% of their tries. The winners, who broke a two-year reign on the title by Virginia, also outscored the losers, 24-21.

The score was tied three times in the opening quarter, with Porta's Don Erickson deciding the final tally with a pair of key buckets and a free toss. Porta scored the final three points in the quarter and led 13-8.

Grab Big Lead Buckets by Ames, Erickson and Don Kording upped the lead to 19-11 midway in the second quarter and it seemed the hot Bluejays might bust the game open.

Virginia's Reg Brunk and Steve Graves canned 15-footers and 6-5 Steve Larsen tipped twice for two points as the charging Redbirds closed the gap to 19-18 at halftime.

Porta, playing its final season in the PMSC, hit 53% of their shots in the half to Virginia's 32% rate.

Another tip by Larsen and a corner bucket by Harold Davis tied the game at 22-22 with five minutes left in the third round. Davis tied the game again at 24-24 following a tip by Erickson with 2:21 to play in the third.

Brunk, who got a lot of clutch points for Virginia throughout the tournament, hit from the corner with 28 seconds left in the period to shove the Redbirds on top 28-26 entering the last chapter.

Birds Lead By Four Bill Middleton tipped for two to open the final stanza to put Virginia on top by four before Porta took command for the final time. Ames hit twice from the corner and Erickson canned a short jumper to wipe out the lead and give Porta the front at 32-30 with 4:46 to play.

Middleton tied the game for Virginia again with 4:30 left, but a free toss by Alan Thomas and a 20-footer by Erickson gave Porta a three-point edge.

Middleton brought Virginia within one for the last time with 2:40 left before David Gum ripped the nets from the deep corner and Ames iced it with a fast break layup all alone with only :43 remaining.

First Game A Thriller The first game of the evening was just as close as the finale, with Gurnsey's game-winning bucket wiping out a last-ditch two-pointer by Triopia's Harlan Fricke.

Fricke's bucket with ten seconds left in the game capped an almost game-long comeback effort by Triopia after Chanderville threatened to blow the Trojans off the floor in the opening eight minutes.

Down by 13 points at the end of the first round, Triopia steadily pumped away at the deficit, finally catching up in the last ten seconds.

Chanderville's star forward Carroll Logue put on the best offensive show of the tournament, pumping in 28 points for the evening.

Three straight missed charity throws by Chanderville in the final minute allowed Triopia to get back in the game. Triopia's Jim Morrison, a clutch performer in all three Trojan games in the week-long affair, canned two from the 15-foot stripe to bring Triopia within two at 62-60 with 1:20 to play.

After the Comets' Delbert Force missed both free throw chances with :44 remaining, Triopia got the ball and set up the play from which Fricke hit from 12-feet out on the side with ten seconds left.

Chanderville got the ball with :02 left and Gurnsey drove down the middle of the lane to hit a leaping jumper from ten feet out just as the clock ticked off the next to last second.

The red-hot shooting of Logue and Dean Eilers shot Chanderville into a commanding 23-10 first quarter spread as Triopia had trouble hitting the bucket and handling the Comets' full court press. The Chanderville fast break continually broke the Triopia defense as Logue and Eilers cashed in.

Trojans Get Rolling Morrison, Jim Paul and Fricke got Triopia back on the right track in the second quarter, as the Trojans steadily chipped away at the deficit and got within 38-29 at intermission. Logue threw in 18 points in the half.

The trend remained the same in the third quarter as Bill Meier got loose underneath for 11 points in the period and Triopia cut the gap to three, 50-47 at :20 left in the frame. A late bucket by Force upped the Comet lead to 52-47 entering the final eight minutes.

Meier and Fricke combined for five points early in the fourth frame, while Logue and Force kept Chanderville on top. A pair of clutch ten-footers by Triopia's Jim Kleinschmidt brought the Trojans to within 60-58 with 2:20 to play.

The difference in the final outcome was established in the Comets' shooting field, 48% to Triopia's 33% clip. Triopia gained much of the difference back at the foul stripe where they hit on 20 of 27 tries.

INTRODUCED SIGNALS
A Detroit policeman, William Potts, is credited with developing the first traffic signal to employ three lights — red, amber and green. His device, installed at a downtown Detroit intersection in 1919, remains basically unchanged to day. His innovation stayed in use until 1924 and was one of two lights used in the world's first synchronized signal system

'Twins' Victory Chosen Upset Of Year By AP

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The unexpected American League pennant victory of the Minnesota Twins, who finished 25 games ahead of the favored New York Yankees, has been chosen as the upset of the year for 1965 in the annual Associated Press poll.

The Twins' triumph drew 28 first-place votes and 143 points in the balloting by 164 sports writers and sportscasters. The first-place finish of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League was second with 27 first-place votes and 128 points.

Spain's Davis Cup tennis victory over the United States in the interzone final at Barcelona last August was third with 117 followed by American Arthur Ashe's conquest of Australian star Roy Emerson in the quarter-finals of the U.S. National Tennis Championships. The latter upset drew 104 points on a basis of three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Lightly Regarded
The Twins were lightly regarded at the start of the 1965 season. With a 79-83 record, they had finished in a sixth place tie with the Cleveland Indians the previous year.

However, led by right-handed pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant, outfielder Tony Oliva and shortstop Zoilo Versalles, Minnesota held the lead for most of the campaign and wound up seven games in front of the second-place Chicago White Sox.

The Yankees, pennant winners in each of the five previous seasons, were sixth.

Grant won numerous key games among his 21 victories, tops in the league. Oliva was the circuit's leading batter for the second straight year while Versalles captured the Most Valuable Player award for his excellent all-round performance.

The Dodgers also drew little support last April because of their sixth-place deadlock in 1964. A late-season drive, though, during which they won 13 straight games, enabled them to clinch the pennant on the next-to-last day of the season.

Tomhave Rites Held At Church
Funeral services for John Tomhave were held at 2 p.m. Friday at Salem Lutheran church with the pastor, Reverend Herbert C. Rose, officiating. Roy Lovekamp served as organist with Kohl Perbix and Russell Davison as ushers.

Honorary pallbearers were Eisenhower 67, Kankakee 65, Irwin Audenkamp, Frank J.
